Substantial Tax Cuts Proposed by Business

The Road Ahead

New Exchange Crisis Feared

A Special Times Series

By BRUCE HUTCHISON
Editor of The Times

Among the Western industrial nations none is so penetrated by foreign capital as Canada.

Foreigners own most of our manufacturing industry.

They control a large part of such basic resources as oil, timber and minerals.

They intend, quite legally and with the vendors' full consent, to buy up more of the Canadian people's estate.

MYSTERY MAN

Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston, Richard Cardinal Cushing, has disclosed that he raised $1,000,000 to help liberate Cuban invasion prisoners. In Washington it was stated that the cardinal pledged the huge sum as the result of a telephone call from U.S. Attorney-General Robert Kennedy. (See story Page 11)

Where will this process end? At the rate of the last dozen years it could end either in a foreign-owned economic system, an appendage of the United States, or even in a general demand for the nationalization of major Canadian industries, as has happened in many other underdeveloped countries. If economic sovereignty is lost political sovereignty will follow.

These things need not happen if Canadians will take a hard, unprejudiced look at foreign investment, as they have not done yet, and base their national policies on facts instead of passions.

Lack Own Capital

The first fact revealed by such a look is that without huge foreign investment Canada would still be the poor, primitive country of our grandfathers' time. From the days of the French fur traders through the days of the railway builders and the modern industrial revolution, Canada's growth has been nourished mainly by outside capital because Canadians lacked enough of their own.

The second fact is that while foreign borrowings enabled Canada to grow at a rate impossible without them, much of the money thus secured was used for the wrong or, at any rate, the least economic purposes. We cannot afford that luxury any longer.

Pays for Imports

To take a simple illustration, a Canadian mine created by American capital enriches this nation, employs its people and, by exporting its products, pays for essential imports. On the other hand, money borrowed from foreigners by a provincial or municipal government to build, say, a school may be money well spent from a social point of view. From an economic point of view it creates no means of repaying the loan, no new saleable goods, no financial nourishment for Canadian business and employment.

Or if we borrow foreign money to buy consumer goods, as we have done on a large scale, then of course we incur a long-term liability without any long-term asset of any kind, economic or social. We are merely living on debt.

The first step in any national policy aimed at economic growth and the reduction of our crushing trade deficit is thus perfectly clear. We must stop borrowing foreign money for the wrong purposes.

Having stopped borrowing it

UN Troops Converge On Kolwezi

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—United Nations troops today drove to within 70 miles of the key Katangan mining town of Kolwezi after central Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula warned President Moise Tshombe of Katanga he personally would be held responsible for any sabotage of Kolwezi.

In a radio broadcast Thursday night, Adoula said if the vital mining installations of Kolwezi were destroyed or damaged "the government will hold Mr. Tshombe responsible and will take the most severe measures in conformity with Congolese law."

Tshombe returned to Elisabethville, his Katangan capital, Thursday night after leading a bloodless UN advance to Mokambo, a communications town on the Rhodesian border 110 miles from Elisabethville.

A UN spokesman said a UN Indian platoon had reached Kakanda on the Dikuwe River 45 miles west of Jadotville and was looking for a place to ford the river.

More Indian troops reached the mining railhead at Shangolowe, west of Jadotville, without meeting any Katangan opposition.

Meanwhile, Tshombe was reported bitterly at odds with some of his followers over future co-operation with the UN.

Sources close to Tshombe said the most serious rift was with Interior Minister Godefroid Munongo, the most violently anti-UN member of the Katanga cabinet.

Tshombe went to the border town of Mokambo Thursday in a bid to talk his followers into returning here to get the Katangese government functioning again now that the UN has used force to reintegrate the Congo.

But he failed to convince Munongo, who crossed into northern Rhodesia in a huff. Munongo was reported later to have gone on to Kolwezi.

CUT BARRIERS, JAPAN ASKS CANADIANS

TOKYO (UPI)—Japan called on Canada today to reduce trade barriers as representatives of both nations exchanged heated debate at the opening meeting of an oft-delayed ministerial conference.

Japanese Finance Minister Kakuei Tanaka urged the Canadians to release Japan from its voluntary export quotas and to reduce trade barriers, such as import surcharges, that Canada has erected to protect its home industries.

Canadian Minister of Justice Donald M. Fleming, who led his country's delegation, said that his government would eliminate the temporary surcharges as soon as they are no longer necessary.

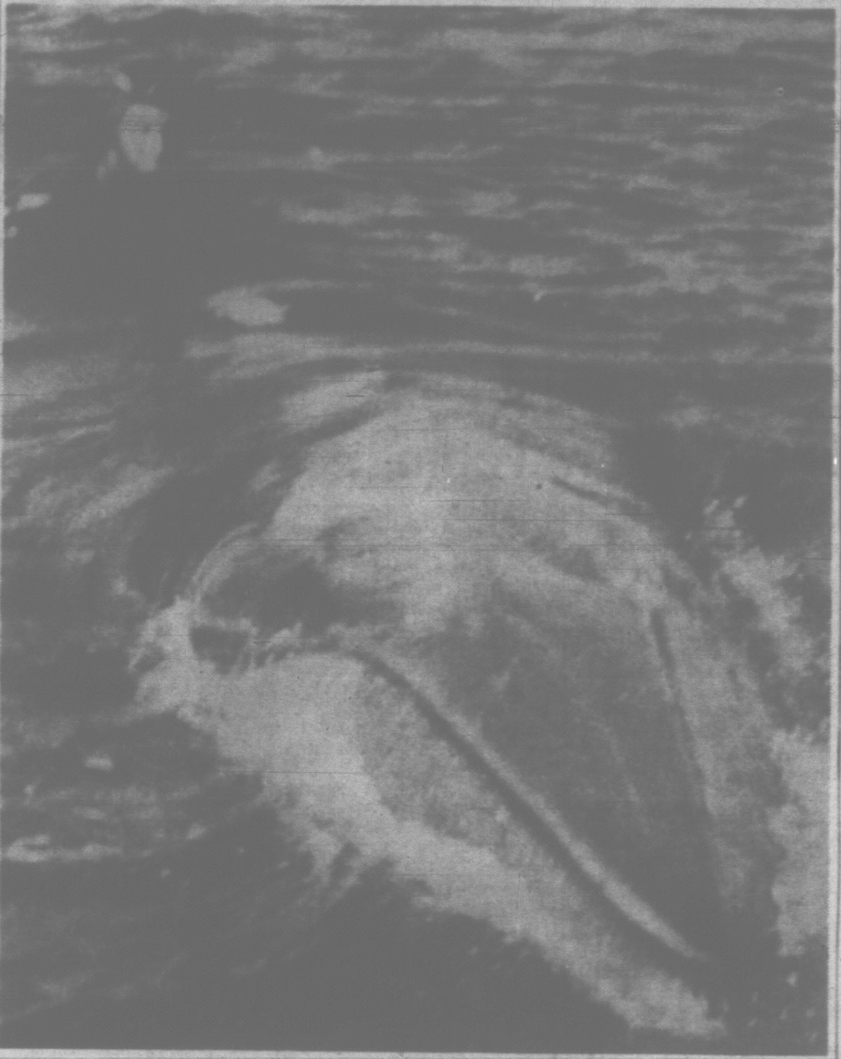
CUBAN VISIT 'MY BUSINESS'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A provincial member of the legislature, now touring Cuba as a guest of Fidel Castro, told his New Democratic Party today to mind its own business.

Speaking in a telephone Interview from Havana, Cedric Cox, MLA for suburban Burnaby, said: "It is none of their business what I do in my own time."



Riding on tail of 45-foot sea monster

THREE-HOUR FROLIC IT WAS AWESOME

Skindivers Have 'Whale' of a Time

LA JOLLA, Calif. — Four San Diego, Calif., amateur photographers had a whale of a time Thursday—with a whale.

The four frolicked in the ocean for three hours with their new-found friend, photographing it close up, riding on its back and even showering under its spout.

"It was a one-in-a-million experience that every photographer dreams about," said Charles Nicklin, Jr., 35, operator of a local diving shop.

He said the 45-foot finback whale was crippled and exhausted because it had been entangled in a nylon line which they were able to release.

Nicklin said he, Alving Santmyer, 35, a diving shop operator; William DeCourt, 24, a design draftsman, and Frank Morejohn, 32, an architectural illustrator, first sighted a whale spout about 1½ miles offshore.

"We thought at first it was sleeping because it lay so still on the surface," Nicklin said. "When we got up close we were so excited we kept dropping film all over the boat.

"As it made no indication of taking off, we suited up and took underwater pictures of it. The line had cut into the whale's hide and he was apparently so exhausted from struggling, he couldn't submerge. He just wallowed there, rocking back and forth."

"He was really big," DeCourt volunteered.

"After shooting pictures for awhile," Nicklin continued, "we took turns riding on its back, clowning around and posing."

"I got a shower sitting near the blowhole when it spouted," DeCourt said

"It was sort of awesome," Nicklin said, "when we thought of the size of the whale and what he might do to us. We were somewhat afraid to take the line off his tail, because we thought he might do something violent. Finally I dove down and removed the line that had crippled him.

"He waited a bit, gave a spout, waved his tail and off he swam."

"We felt a kinship for him," DeCourt said. "He didn't say thank you, but we know he appreciated what we did for him."

New Russ Overture On Test Ban Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union are privately exploring new approaches to a nuclear test ban agreement, the Washington Post says.

A new Soviet overture toward breaking the deadlock on international inspection of a test ban is understood to have been made to the United States, The Post says and adds:

"The nature and details of this move have been kept secret, and it is believed to be still in an embryonic stage. Whether it will in fact produce something tangible or end up as another false start is still unknown."

Soviet deputy foreign minister Vasily, V. Kuznetsov now is in Washington talking with U.S. officials. One of the subjects he discussed with President Kennedy Wednesday was disarmament.

However, U.S. spokesmen have made a point of specifying that Kuznetsov's talks here have been "casual" and that there had been "no systematic discussion of any points."

Pearson Blast Expected On Nuclear Arms Issue

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Liberal Leader Lester Pearson is expected to renew his criticism Saturday of the government's handling of the nuclear weapons issue.

But whether he will elaborate on or bring to a firmer position his own party's policy on the question is up to now uncertain.

Liberal party spokesmen said their leader would have some important things to say about defence policy when he makes a speech Saturday at a luncheon meeting in Toronto of the York Scarboro federal Liberal nominating convention.

In his criticism of the Diefenbaker government in the past Mr. Pearson has attacked the government for seeming to have committed its new CF-104 squadrons in Europe to tactical nuclear arms, then failing to live up to the commitment.

Liberal policy has been against nuclear weapons for Canadian forces at home, but in favor of them for our forces under NATO command in Europe on the condition

Three Safe Places Ready for Skaters

There are only three "guaranteed safe" outdoor skating spots in Victoria and adjoining municipalities:

The model yacht pond on Dallas Road, which has two inches of solid ice on the concrete bottom;

The Esquimalt lacrosse box, Fraser and Lyall streets, which was flooded to two-inch depth and is frozen solid.

A small pond on the west side of Topaz Park, near the Mayfair Plaza site.

Police of all areas were emphatic in warning off would-be skaters from waters deeper than a very few inches.

Saanich reports no safe areas in deeper waters, and police are keeping a sharp eye on such waters as Swan Lake. They are prepared to keep skaters off.

Goodacre Lake in Beacon Hill Park is ruled out for skaters—portions of the water are still open.

Colwood RCMP were particularly emphatic, in view of the tragedy Thursday (see Page 13.)

"There isn't a safe skating area anywhere in this district," a spokesman said.

Freeze to Ease As Snow Lurks

Cold, but no colder, and possibly about five degrees warmer, is today's forecast for Victoria's current taste of winter.

The mercury dropped Thursday night to an official 16.9 mark at the Gonzales weather office, 15 in some parts of the city.

There is little prospect of snow in the near future, although snow is falling at Prince Rupert and the northwest coast of Vancouver Island.

"We even had a few flakes here this morning," weatherman Bill Mackie said, "although you could walk between them.

"There's a chance we might have a few flurries here."

20 TONIGHT

Mr. Mackie said there was evidence Thursday of some warmer air beginning to move into the far north from storm areas in the Pacific, bringing a slow moderating trend to this area.

Moderating temperatures will be accompanied by increased cloudiness.

Low tonight is forecast at 20, and the mercury should move above freezing Saturday. Winds will be light, mainly from the east.

Skiers welcomed the news there will be some fresh snow on Green Mountain near Nanaimo.

ROAD CLEAR

Victoria Sno-Birds' ski resort today reported: temperatures of eight degrees; old snow depth of three feet with some light snow falling early today; all tows running, and the road to the parking lot is clear.

Gates will be open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

VANCOUVER—The freezing grip of winter will continue to chill the Lower Mainland for another two, possibly three, days, followed by snow.

The temperature dipped to 34 below in Prince George overnight. Vancouver recorded 15 above. Blue River in the Yellowhead pass area, reported 40 below with ice fog.

EDMONTON — Below-zero temperatures are expected to hold Alberta and Saskatchewan in their grip for at least three more days.

The bitter weather already has been blamed for four deaths in Western Canada.

Coldest overnight temperature on the Prairies was 45 below zero at Beverlodge in the northwest corner of Saskatchewan.

Southern Alberta temperatures dipped to about 30 below. The Edmonton and Peace River Block areas registered between 20 and 25 below.

Deficit Budget Sought

OTTAWA (CP) — Substantial cuts in income taxes and another federal budget deficit next fiscal year were advocated today by the executive council of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

In a prebudget brief presented to Finance Minister Nowlan and Revenue Minister Fleming, the council said a deficit for the fiscal year starting April 1 is "appropriate for the current economic situation."

But it should be lower than the $570,000,000 deficit forecast for the current year.

The proposal ran counter to the policy declaration at the Canadian Chamber's annual meeting last September which called for "immediate steps" to balance the budget after six consecutive years of deficits.

Today's brief said there should be a "substantial reduction" in both corporate and personal income taxes to stimulate growth of production and employment.

REDUCE SPENDING

Government spending should be reduced, with implementation of money-saving recommendations of the Glassco royal commission on government operations "to the maximum practicable extent . . . as rapidly as possible."

The brief added that the government should finance the deficit by borrowing in the capital market "without relying on an increase in the money supply from central bank operations."

The brief, presented by a delegation headed by George P. Keeping of Montreal, chairman of the chamber's executive council, echoed the tax-cut request made Wednesday by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

The Chamber of Commerce said a "controlled" and reduced deficit, with tax cuts partly offset by reduced expenditures, "would enhance rather than impair confidence."

On government spending, it said costs of social welfare programs have reached "the fiscally feasible limits." But there was room for added outlays for social capital — new schools and other community services.

The brief welcomed the appointment of the royal commission on taxation, and suggested a close study of the merits of shifting the emphasis from income taxes to sales taxes as a means of encouraging industrial expansion.

It warned of possible "returning sluggishness" in the economy and urged adoption of "more stimulating policies."

U.S. Urges A-Support

PARIS (UPI) — The United States called on its North Atlantic Treaty allies today to support its plans for a multination nuclear force inside the alliance and to boost conventional armed strength in Europe.

for consumer goods, we must stop borrowing it for non-productive social purposes, at least until our economy is no longer living far beyond its means, constantly on the edge of crisis. If Canadians themselves cannot raise sufficient money from their savings to pay for social investment this is sufficient proof that it cannot be afforded.

Opposite Policy

Unfortunately we are now following precisely the opposite policy. To build up our depleted reserves of foreign currency we are deliberately encouraging provincial and municipal governments to borrow in the United States, no matter how the money is used. We are piling up more and more foreign debt without creating the means of repaying it. Since we must pay interest on all this debt and finally repay the principal, we are steadily worsening our basic problem and probably assuring another exchange crisis at no distant date.

In short, no sane policy has governed or is governing the expansion of our foreign debt. The whole process, deeply involving the nation's future independence, is running out of hand. In place of considered programs of economic expansion, we have lived for some 15 years by daily improvization, political double-talk, a continuing trade deficit and a mounting legacy of debt for our children on a scale unparalleled in the Western world.

More Than Ever

Nevertheless, we need, we cannot do without, more foreign money. In fact, we need it now more than ever. We need it to build the industries which alone can provide the means of repaying debt, which can give us economic growth and strength enough to manage friendly foreign penetration for Canada's welfare.

The second objective of national policy, therefore, must be to make sure that foreign money is used to expand our productive apparatus and for no other purpose.

A simple and infallible test must be applied to all such investment: Will it increase our production of saleable goods, above all, goods saleable in the world market? Will it provide, first, the means of paying the interest on the loan in foreign money? Will it provide, second, the means of repaying the principal later on? Will it provide, third, a margin of profit above these costs and thus increase the nation's net stock of capital; its ability later on to recapture some of our alienated resources?

Root of Dilemma

For many years that test has not been applied and the failure to apply it is the root of our economic dilemma.

To be sure, the foreign investor, putting money into Canadian industry, applies the test for himself. He does not buy the shares of any Canadian business unless he judges that it will pay him a profit, in United States dollars. He invests in shares only when he is convinced that a Canadian company will steadily maintain or increase its production, thus adding to the nation's real wealth.

But obviously the test of profitable investment has not been adequately applied by either Canadian or foreign investors, as proved by the present state of our economy.

Cannot Compete

Encouraged by the mistakes of national policy, we have built many non-economic industries that cannot compete in the world market and only survive in the Canadian market with tariff or other artificial protection. As the eminent economist, Dr. John Deutsch put it, we have tried to manufacture "dribs and drabs" of everything when we should have been concentrating on the products that we can make most efficiently, cheaply and competitively. We have built an economy strong and competitive in some areas but riddled with soft spots that are nothing but a burden and a net liability on the Canadian people as a whole.

Our basic failure, as Dr. Deutsh and other economists rightly argue, is the failure to specialize, to exploit our natural advantages and minimize our disadvantages.

Big Advantages

We have huge advantages in our raw materials, our transportation system and the skills of our people but we have not exploited them adequately. We have serious disadvantages in our small domestic market and in high production costs over wide areas, but we have not minimized them. On the contrary, we have exaggerated them by protecting the weak sisters, the non-economic segments of our economy. And apparently we intend to expand this folly by providing still more protection for enterprises that cannot stand on their own feet and earn us no net return of foreign money.

Challenge Coming

By imposing emergency tariffs to cure an exchange crisis Canada not only has angered its foreign customers but has given soft, non-economic industries an extra protection which they will not surrender if they can help it—and this at a time when Canada must soon face the challenge of a general reduction of tariffs throughout the free world.

It will be said, however, and quite properly, that somehow Canada must reduce its intolerable trade deficit, proportionately the largest in the free world. Of course it must, since otherwise Canada ultimately will go through the wringer of bankruptcy, as it almost did last June. But if we reduce the deficit by the wrong method of direct import tariffs and restrictions we shall end by supporting the wrong industries, further weakening the economy and making it non-viable in a competitive world market.

It Can Be Done

We must curtail the import of foreign consumer goods by using more of our own, and we can do it if we have the necessary intelligence and courage. We can do it if we produce goods as cheaply as foreigners, and in as good quality.

Some goods cannot be produced economically in Canada. Some, like citrus fruits for example, cannot be produced at all and must always be imported. In many cases, however, we can greatly expand the production of competitive goods instead of buying imports if government, management and labor will resolve to do so by holding down costs, by concentrating on the right products and using the best technical methods.

Clear, Simple

As in the case of imported foreign capital, the test of truly economic production is clear and simple: If an industry can meet foreign competition in the world and Canadian markets its expansion deserves every encouragement that state policy can give it, especially in the field of taxation. If it cannot meet that test then the state should not encourage its expansion at the cost of the consumer and the strength of the national economy. But there are other problems to consider.

FRENCH HAVE ATOM BOMB IN PRODUCTION

PARIS (Reuters) — France has put its atomic bomb into regular production, sources close to the defence commission in the French National Assembly said today.

The bomb will be carried in Mirage IV planes, 50 of which are reported due to go into service in about 12 months.

Newspapers here report the French hydrogen bomb is expected to be in operation in five years' time.

The anti-government weekly minute reported that the first French hydrogen bomb might be exploded "in the last week of February in the heart of the Hoggar Desert, some 100 kilometres, about 62 miles north of Tamanrasset" in the Sahara.

some form of joint NATO control over the U.S.-provided weapons is assured.

The declaration here last week by the just-retired U.S. commander of NATO, General Lauris Norstad, that Canadian forces in NATO have been committed by their government to nuclear weapons, has heightened the nuclear controversy.

While the Liberal Party is not entirely united on nuclear policy, highly placed Liberal sources say Mr. Pearson may be moving towards a bipartisan defence policy, particularly on the nuclear issue.

The Liberal leader is known to be chary of setting forth in public any new party policy on nuclear arms. This is because he believes the government has the responsibility to act; should it do so, Mr. Pearson might attempt to provide his party's support, feeling it would be in the national interest on such an important issue.

At the same time, Mr. Pearson is believed to feel, the Liberal party would reserve the right to charge the government with having delayed its decision-making to Canada's discredit in the eyes of her allies.

Lacking any government initiative in settling policy, Mr. Pearson is understood to have an alternative thought—a proposal that Canada might at least sign a bilateral nucelar weapon-control agreement with the U.S., thus providing training for Canadian crews in handling the weapons, but stopping short of actual acquisition, as Norway has.

Near-Zero Temperatures Latest Grief for Douks

HOPE, B.C. (CP) — Nearly 1,000 Sons of Freedom Doukhobors spent Thursday night shivering in near-zero temperatures in overcrowded tents and cabins in a summer camp here.

Snow covered the cardboard and planks erected to make the thin tents more habitable.

The water was turned off and the camp's 30 toilets no longer work.

Two taps outside the caretaker's house provide the only water.

Ten children have measles. Twenty have bad coughs and 30 have assorted minor ailments including diarrhoea.

But the Sons are not leaving—yet.

"We are not going back to the Kootenay, that is one thing," said Fanny Storgoff, the spokesman for the sect.

"We are not looking for a permanent place to stay, either. We still intend to go to Mountain Prison where our men are."

START MARCHING

The Sons left their homes—many of them burned to the ground—in the Kootenay in September and began marching on Mountain Prison in Agassiz, 60 miles east of Vancouver, where many Freedomite men are serving terms for terrorism.

The Sons arrived Oct. 1 in Hope, 100 miles east of Vancouver. They have lived in the Seventh-day Adventist summer camp since being flooded out by another campsite.

Village, medical and fire officials are concerned about health and fire hazards with almost no running water available and tents heated with wood stoves.

Dr. A. S. Arnell, Hope medical officer of health, called it "an impossible situation."

"I cannot act until a problem exists," he said. "Until something happens I can only make suggestions."

"The sanitation situation is worrying. I am concerned with the fire hazard and the limited drinking water.

WILL GET TOGETHER

"The solution rests with the camp owners, the health board and the village commission.

"We are going to get together and discuss all this at a meeting today."

Dr. Arneil met with Dr. J. A. Taylor, deputy minister of health, in Vancouver Thursday.

He described it as a purely routine meeting he has with Dr. Taylor every three months on communicable diseases.

"We discussed the Doukhbor situation for about five minutes at the end of the meeting. It was purely incidental. I make my reports each week on the situation in the camp."

The Hope village commission has asked the provincial government for help.

"We cannot cope with the situation," said village chairman Paul Scherle.

Surveyors Field Father-Son Team

Father and son teams are much in evidence at the 58th annual meeting of the Corporation of Land Surveyors of British Columbia, now in progress at the Empress Hotel.

Among them are surveyors A. O. Noakes and his son, Hugh A. Noakes of Victoria; G. K. Burnett and son, D. H. Burnett, of New Westminster; James T. Underhill and son, David, of Vancouver; G. C. Tassie and son Peter, from Vernon.

B.C. government surveyor Arthur Swannell of Victoria, is attending the meeting, but his father, veteran surveyor Frank Swannell, 82, is now travelling in Majorca.

YUKON SURVEY

Arthur Swannell recently carried out a boundary survey in the Yukon Territory.

Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston will speak at the surveyors' annual dinner in the Empress Hotel tonight at 6:30.

Today's sessions were concerned with discussions on joint liability insurance, practice and ethics, integral survey systems, professional engineers' contracts and government liaison.

Thursday afternoon the more than 100 delegates from many parts of the province heard a talk by D. J. Roy of Vancouver on "Financial Aspects of the Operation of a Small Survey Practice."

A social followed in the Army, Navy and Air Force Club, 1001 Wharf Street.

Canada ranked fifth among the major trading nations of the world in 1960, behind the U.S., Britain, West Germany and France.

PRINCE APT PUPIL ON SWISS SKI SLOPE

TARASP, Switzerland (Reuters) — Prince Charles had his first skiing lesson today and proved an apt pupil, according to ski instructor Gisep Heinrich.

The 14-year-old son of Queen Elizabeth learned to walk on skis, do a "kick turn" and made his first run down a slight incline.

So far the Price of Wales has not had a fall, Heinrich said.

Gov't 'Ignores Plea' On Kidnapped Child

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Vancouver mother charged today that her estranged husband had "kidnapped" their 2½-year-old son in defiance of a court order but that the attorney-general's department had failed to act to bring him back from England where he fled.

Mrs. Elizabeth C. Smith, 23, said her husband, Robert Reid Smith, 27, fled to England with the child, Chris, last April defying a B.C. Supreme Court order giving her sole custody of the youngster after the couple became estranged and she left him.

RCMP hold a warrant for the arrest of Smith on a charge of abduction should he return to Canada.

Mrs. Smith said the court order permitted the father to take the baby between 9 a.m. and 6 p.m. on Saturdays. She said he failed to return with the child at 6 p.m. last April and investigation disclosed he had taken a plane for Amsterdam and later went to England.

"I always thought a court order was sacred," said Mrs. Smith. "It leaves you shaken to find it is not worth the paper it is written on . . . it is shocking to me that the attorney-general's department feels extradition would be a waste of taxpayers' money."

'SPENT THOUSANDS'

She noted that the government had "spent thousands of dollars" to extradite Vancouver stock promoter George Caldough, later convicted of fraud and sentenced to six years from England.

"They'll act quickly enough when somebody steals money," said the distraught mother. "But when a baby is stolen they couldn't care less."

Lawyer William Ellis, who obtained the order giving the mother sole custody of Chris, said "this shouldn't be allowed to happen in defiance of a court order; he (Smith) is clearly outside the law."

John Taylor, former Progressive Conservative MP for Vancouver Burrard, who fought to have extradition proceedings approved, said he has been in touch with the attorney-general's department.

But he has been told that all the department could do was hold an outstanding warrant for Smith's arrest should he return to Canada.

Taylor said investigations showed the child is being cared for by Smith's relatives in his native Scotland.

JFK EXPLAINS BRITAIN'S MISSILE CHOICE

Polaris Useful Over Longer Period

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy believes one reason Britain accepted the Polaris missile is because it "offers a hope of being an effective deterrent for a much longer period" than the now-abandoned Skybolt.

The president has some discouraging words for "these people" who say too much reliance is being put on missiles in comparison with manned bombers.

The president's views on the Skybolt controversy and the Anglo-American Nassau agreement are set forth in the partial transcript of remarks made by him Dec. 31 at Palm Beach.

Reporters present at the interview were forbidden to quote what he said or disclose that he was the source. They were permitted only to attribute the president's remarks to the highest authority, unimpeachable sources, or Kennedy friends. The White House issued the partial transcript Thursday because of a dispute over what he had actually said.

TELLS ABOUT AGREEMENT

Kennedy was asked about the agreement made with Prime Minister Macmillan at Nassau. Macmillan agreed to drop Britain's plan to use the bomber-launched Skybolt ballistic missile and to accept U.S. co-operation in building submarines for firing the Polaris missile, but with Britain providing her own nuclear warheads.

Kennedy outined in the interview the alternate proposals offered Macmcillan, then said this:

"I think the British selected the Polaris option first because of the technical problems connected with Skybolt and, secondly, because Polaris offers a hope of being an effective deterrent for a much longer period than Skybolt, through the 70s."

Here Kennedy appeared to be saying that the U.S. Navy's Polaris submarine-missile system will continue to be useful in posing a retaliatory threat for Russia for another 17 years. This would be a long time in this fast-changing age of weaponry. Among other things, it could suggest a belief that Russia won't solve completely the art of anti-submarine warfare through the 1970s.

Tidings of Comfort and Joy

PREMIER BENNETT APPEARS full of good cheer these days, after a typically rapid recovery from the bad news of Point Grey. His first firm announcement of the new year is that Peace River power will be the cheapest in the world, about 3.75 mills per kilowatt hour. This calculation denies all the figures of the federal government and the warnings of many competent engineers, but one hopes it is sound.

At any rate, the Legislature should insist, preferably through a special committee and a detailed examination, on knowing precisely how Mr. Bennett has arrived at such an exact conclusion before he even knows what borrowed money for the Peace scheme will cost.

The Legislature should also ascertain where the northern power is to be sold. If some or most of it is to be sold in the United States, as seems probable when the American capitalists are expected to provide loans of nearly a billion dollars, has Mr. Bennett negotiated the necessary contracts?

If so, the Legislature is entitled to see them since it is responsible for the expenditure of all public money whether spent directly by the government or indirectly by its agent, the B.C. Hydro.

The Premier provides another tantalizing forecast of great things to come. His new budget, he says, will be the biggest and best in provincial history. No doubt it will. Every budget introduced by Mr. Bennett has been bigger than the last one, usually bigger, in per capita terms, than any provincial budget in Canada. British Columbia's tax rates are on the same lavish scale.

The government's revenue collections must have been high in the last year, producing another surplus. How does Mr. Bennett propose to spend it? It may be popular for the time being to spend it on provincial services where the most votes are available, but it will be much sounder to spend it on the rescue of the municipalities whose residents are not without votes and are heavily burdened by rising local taxes.

Perhaps that is Mr. Bennett's intention, now that he has assured the municipalities that they have nothing to worry about. Perhaps there will be goodies in the budget for everybody. But it would be much wiser to concentrate the extra revenues on some definite reform like the relief of the land owners than to distribute it, in dribs and drabs, for election purpose.

For judging by Mr. Bennett's rosy forecast, this well may be an election budget. He does not say, and certainly is not bound to say, when he intends to appeal to the country but the budget obviously is designed to provide a springboard if the water looks warm enough a few months hence.

Taking a Few Hurdles

PEOPLE OF THIS COMMUNITY who appreciate the excellent work done by the Capital Improvement District Commission have occasion to applaud that body's most recent action.

The group has asked official planning agencies in the region to outline their proposals for development in different parts of the entire district. By this means an over-all blueprint should be presented on which the CIDC can work for integrated improvement.

Although there is not an immediate prospect of any move by outside municipalities to seek amalgamation with the city itself, from a planning standpoint the beautification of the capital cannot be limited to the city alone. Nor has it been in improvement commission work so far.

The point which the commission sees more clearly than some municipal representatives is that Greater Victoria is an entity, that its attractiveness can be increased best by working on a broad basis across municipal boundaries, and that the planners under different authorities are capable of seeing beyond their own jurisdictions to make something worthwhile of the whole area.

This is good planning by the Capital Improvement District Commission.

Not Quite the Millenium Yet

EARLIER BRITISH ESTIMATES of the comparative costs of nuclear and conventional power have proved to be very wide of the mark. The error has been due partly to unexpected technical difficulties encountered in constructing economical nuclear plants, and partly to the fact that conventional fuels have decreased in cost.

The result is that at this point the disparity between the nuclear and conventional methods of producing power in Britain is still large and the prospect is that the former will become competitive in the more distant rather than the near future.

The Manchester Guardian notes that although Britain has been in the foremost rank of nations building nuclear power plants, the seven plants to be put into operation within the next four years will cost £500 millions. The same amount of electricity, it is estimated, could be obtained from conventional types of plant for only £140 millions.

The point is of interest in this area, where some people have urged a quick decision on export of power on the argument that cheap nuclear power is imminent and export markets should be sewn up before it is too late.

The British experience suggests that competitive nuclear power is still come distance in the future, and Canada has plenty of time to make a calm decision on a policy of major importance.

The Problem of 'Slurb'

SO MANY PEOPLE ARE COMING to Saanich that planning officials and the reeve are worried over the municipality's ability to provide the services they need.

Says planner Mr. Antony Parr, "I'm afraid we may be in the position of never catching up . . ."

Says Reeve Murphy, "There is a strong possibility development of the municipality will be too fast for provision of services and zoning control."

Here, in miniature and close to home, is a problem causing concern in many other parts of the world. The state of California, now claiming the highest state population in the United States, is facing it.

There the authorities have been concerned by what is called their "slurbs," sometimes defined as the "sloppy, sleazy, slovenly, slipsod semi-cities" which are reportedly spreading over the state's fertile agricultural land, spoiling every square mile instead of being concentrated in closely built-up centres.

What is happening in California and what is causing concern in Saanich is a modern development that could afflict the whole of British Columbia. This province is filling up. The urbanization of the Fraser Valley ribbon indicates the trend. That is a beginning. Other areas will feel the weight of population in the years ahead.

To avoid the difficulties apparent elsewhere, it is urgent that British Columbia make sweeping plans for the future. The problems of heavy and concentrated population influx can be reduced if adequate precautions are taken soon enough. And prevention of "slurb" is much less expensive and less difficult than its cure.

Just a Moment There, Doctor . . .

DISCLOSURE THAT A COMmittee of the American Medical Association checks all scripts for the Ben Casey, Dr. Kildare and other TV shows laid in the medical world, rouses some alarm in The Lethbridge Herald.

If the medical profession is to be so protected, asks the newspaper, why should not other professions receive similar protection? It is a good question.

Is the profession of the cowboy to be slandered by a TV depiction of slovenly herding or bad roping? Should policemen or plumbers be shown in a bad TV light, without the opportunity to have a committee safeguard their interests? And should newspapermen be continually subjected to the gross canard charging frenzy, noise, hats-on-in-the-office and hard drinking, with never a committee to insist that the public be given the right image?

There is much to be said for having a professional committee to censor scripts. There is much to be said for abolishing such committees on the grounds that they may exert too much control of a public medium. There is much to be said for forgetting the whole thing.

Bierman, Victoria Daily Times.

A SOCIETY in Calgary is reported to be hypnotizing people to help them with their problems. The latest wheeze—no pun unintended—is to hypnotize smokers into thinking they don't want to smoke. That shouldn't be hard. Most smokers these days, apparently, think they don't want to smoke — but they still smoke. Evidently the hypnotists carry this a stage farther and get them to stop. Then, as long as they stay hypnotized, they'll keep off the weed, smoke-cured. But how long can you stay hypnotized?

An earlier effort by the Calgary group was designed to help university students with their exams. It seems that the subjects were put under hypnosis and their counsellor attempted to persuade them that they would do well in the exams.

Unfortunately he was able to help them only to the extent of doing their best with what they had absorbed during the term. He couldn't put information into their brains that they hadn't studied. No amount of hypnosis would dredge up the date of the Battle of Waterloo or the formula for permanganate of potash if the student hadn't already hammered home such facts beforehand.

There are definite limits to the system. But there are also wider possibilities. If it works, even a little bit, with smoking and class examinations, why shouldn't it work with other problems?

Take problems in politics, for instance. Here's a fellow who has the political habit bad. He just can't seem to swear off running for office. He's sought the advice of his friends, he's tried will power, he's taken tablets supposed to kill the urge, he's had talks with his clergyman, and he's read all kinds of books and pamphlets on his affliction. But he just can't help running for office whenever he has the chance.

Obviously something must be done, since more than the health of his lungs is at stake. Perhaps putting the subject into a hypnotic trance and telling him that it is his patriotic duty not to run for public office would have some effect—if it could overcome the effects of the trance into which he must long ago have placed himself with just the opposite objective.

And then there is the voter, long a target for hypnotists of one sort or another. Perhaps long years of subjection to hypnotic efforts have immunized him against further efforts. But on the other hand continued bombardment by hypnotic suggestions may have so weakened his will that he becomes unable to think for himself or for his country. He has been conditioned to obey blindly the voice of his choice—which may be the loudest, the soothingest, the most promising or the last he happens to hear before polling day.

Here, clearly, is a situation where some form of counter-hypnotism might be of use, restoring the subject to sanity and the full powers of reason, or the closest approximation of which he was capable.

Of almost equal urgency is the need to de-hypnotize or counter-hypnotize the victims of the modern sales campaign. The saturation tactics, the offensive-in-depth, the womb-to-tomb barrage of today's pitchmen have a hypnotic effect never before encountered by mankind.

What is needed to balance things out—and incidentally give all the pitchmen an equal chance—is some super-hypnotism which would clear the citizen's mind, make it a blank, and then permit to enter it only messages of provable truth and ethical acceptability. No exaggeration, no falsity, no not-quite-stated implication, no suggested-but-not-actually-promised return.

Under such severe conditions the mental screen might remain blank for quite a long time—the prelude to a new era.

FROM WASHINGTON

By JOSEPH ALSOP

Ready for More Political Billingsgate

Alsop

WITH bated breath, the Western students of Sino-Soviet demonology are waiting for the next stage in the great row between Moscow and Peking. The scene is expected to be the East German Communist Party Congress. Another, even more lurid act in this strange political drama is thought to be insured by the recent resumption of Sino-Soviet name-calling. All of Communist terminology's equivalents of four-letter words have now been used by the Chinese, to describe the sins of Nikita S. Khrushchev. "You're another," the Russians have replied in effect, in the official Pravda.

In this new outburst of political billingsgate, the Chinese were the aggressors. A furious denunciation of "the modern revisionists"—meaning Khrushchev—was published in Peking on Dec. 15. This was followed by the gigantic, full-dress document stating the whole Chinese Communist case against the Russians, which was Mao Tse-tung's angry welcome to the New Year.

Hysterical Fury

These two articles in the People's Daily were then reinforced on Jan. 6 by an article in the Chinese Communist army paper, Red Flag, which bore all the marks of hysterical fury. And on Jan. 7 Pravda hit back by directly accusing the Peking regime, for the first time by name, as a disseminator of "dogmatic, divisive views."

It is likely that the Chinese decision to return to the attack with increased violence had an important hidden motive. The Chinese Communist armed forces are still almost wholly dependent on the Soviets for their heavier and more complex weapons. But it is now accepted as a fact that the Soviets have put an end to their arms exports to the Chinese.

Hence the sorely strained Chinese economy must be strained still further, in order to manufacture spare parts for existing equipment, and to produce the replacements that will later be needed. In these circumstances, the suspension of arms exports is a grave provocation.

More open provocation of the Chinese at the East German Communist Party Congress is anticipated for two reasons.

On the one hand, the Sino-Soviet dispute has now become too burning a topic to be passed over in silence. On the other hand, this party congress culminates a series that began in Bulgaria. And the Chinese have been roundly condemned at all the preceding satellite party congresses in this series.

Sharp Denunciation

At the East German congress, the least that can be expected is a sharp denunciation of the Chinese by the odious East German party boss, Walther Ulbricht. Antonin Novotny of Czechoslovakia and Ulbricht of East Germany are the two surviving Stalinist leaders in the East European satellites parties. Even more than Novotny, Ulbricht probably sympathizes with the Chinese; hence Ulbricht may not mean what he says.

Yet at the Czech Congress, Novotny was required to go on record with the sharpest attack on the Chinese position made by any satellite boss up to that time.

What Novotny had to do, Ulbricht will also have to do, one may be pretty sure.

But the East German party congress will be set apart from its predecessors in the series by the august presence of Khrushchev himself, at the head of an unusually high-towered Soviet delegation. At a minimum, therefore, Khrushchev will be on hand, smiling, slapping, and giving formal countenance to the expected attacks on the Chinese.

Quite possibly, Khrushchev will go beyond merely giving countenance. In their handling of the Chinese problem, the preceding satellite party congresses have followed a crescendo pattern. Novotny, for instance, was the first satellite leader to name the Chinese quite openly, instead of denouncing nameless "dogmatists." It would complete the crescendo pattern rather neatly if Khrushchev himself joined the chorus with his own overt condemnation of Mao.

The thing may not stop there, either. The experts now incline to think that it is only a matter of time before the formal, final, Stalin-Tito-style rupture between Peking and Moscow. The East German congress may also produce the call for the world congress of all Communist parties everywhere, which will probably have to be held before an official anathema can be pronounced on the Chinese

As the East German congress may also be expected to show the present condition of the three-quarters buried Berlin crisis, this meeting on the 16th of this month should be an interesting occasion.

ON THE RECORD

One of the most serious consequences of talking is that people are apt to remember what was said in the past and to think that it can be taken seriously. This is one of the reasons why the things which the really clever professional politician says are so vague as to be practically meaningless. He has to bear in mind all the time that if he is to keep his job and in due course retire to a comfortable old age, he must never say anything which can be brought up against him when it becomes expedient to change his policy and do the exact opposite of what he has hitherto been doing.

Friends In Need

We offer our heartfelt appreciation and thanks to the many people who gave first aid and assistance at the site of the head-on collision the night of Dec. 30, 1962.

The turmoil and shock following such an accident makes it impossible to adequately express ourselves, or to even determine all of your names. To Don Mitchell who tenderly placed in his auto and carried to the hospital, one badly injured and shocked little girl; to the lady who was reciprocating the kindness to her own injured boy a few nights before; to the family of East Indians who were everywhere helping and comforting; to the girl who left her boy friend in order to accompany two badly frightened and shocked little girls to the hospital; and to the many others, we say, thanks and God bless you.

Night Driving

Statistics disclosed recently by the Motor Vehicles Branch showing that 56 per cent of the 385 highway deaths in B.C. during 1962 occurred after dark are substantiated by vision research into night driving by the optometric profession.

Many factors contributed to the increase in after-dark accidents, and a research survey conducted by Dr. S. A. Mintz of Paterson, N.J., brought to light some of these factors. Dr. Mintz is a member of the American Optometric Association's Motorists Vision and Highway Safety Committee, as well as President Kennedy's Traffic Safety Committee.

His research findings, published in the December, 1962 issue of The Journal of the AOA, disclosed the following about night driving:

"Clues to stimulate the two eyes into fused binocular vision become fewer with deeper twilight and more strain is placed on the muscular co-ordinating mechanism of the eyes. The glare and smaller number of visual clues handicap judgment of depth, position and speed of vehicles. These conditions prevail with normal, average and abnormal eyes.

"At night, there are many factors which may lead to frustration and confusion for the driver. They would be quite obvious during daylight driving because the field of view is not then limited by the range of the headlights and street lights, which at times, give improper clues. Extended driving at night tends to make a driver stare fixedly and thus can lead to fatigue and fascination. This can grossly impede a normal response. Under these conditions, response to a hazardous stimulus is slowed to a dangerous degree. The driver must snap out of this lethargic or hypnotic state to react quickly enough to avoid an accident.

"The rate of dark adaptation of the retina is dependent upon its level of dark adaptation at the beginning of the adaptation, as well as the illumination concerned and the physiological state of the organism. Daytime exposures to intense sunlight slows the rate of dark adaptation. This is especially significant in summer for vacationers returning after long hours of exposure to daylight glare from the ocean or swimming pools and the sand."

Realities

(Financial Post)

OUR present political rulers may well be tempted to view the current state of the Canadian economy with confidence, pride and, perhaps, a small, self-satisfied smile.

The reason: Despite an ominous foreign exchange crisis and much gloom talk, the economy has moved into 1963 with business running at record levels, with solid new gains in real per capita growth, and with much optimism about the prospects.

These are soothing developments and, for the hard-pressed government, an invitation to by-pass the economic problems for a while and concentrate on the political. But before devoting all of its energies to the preservation and promotion of its own political existence, the administration might well consider these two hard realities:

First: The lack of thrust and drive in the Canadian economy, exhibited most dramatically by the pile-up of inventories, makes it plain that business is operating in the shadow of a recession. It may be mild and it may be brief, but a slowdown in activity appears inevitable.

Second: The Canadian economy is operating in a world that stands in danger of deflation. As Per Jacobsson, managing director of the International Monetary Fund points out, there are unused production facilities and an undesirable level of unemployment in almost all industrially mature nations.

The plain truth is that 1963, however auspicious its beginning, will be a fateful year for Canadian business. Many of the dynamics of growth, both at home and abroad, are played out for the time being anyway.

The loss of momentum in a number of European countries, in Britain and in the U.S. foreshadows a slowdown for Canada's exports. It portends violent price competition in international markets. It reinforces the prospect of an unemployment rate higher than 1962's already-too-high six per cent.

There are many powerful ways by which our federal government—given courage and wisdom—can create a climate in which business can again expand and provide more for more of our people.

The remarkable advance in 1962 may look like the beginning of a new prosperity. But the government's work is far from complete. Any belief that it now can afford the luxury of a minor role in shaping the prospects for the economy would be short-sighted, irresponsible and perilous for all of us.

ON THE TIMES By ART STOTT

Remember Hans Brinker?

THIS is the kind of January weather I enjoyed about 40 years ago. The sharp frost would send our Foul Bay gang up Highland Drive (now King George Terrace) to the rocks south of what we used to call Peacock Plain.

Stott

There, in an irregular hollow moulded when the earth was young and later scraped by glacial action, a small pond lay, its surface spread by the rains of autumn.

It wasn't much of a pond—not more than a foot-and-a-half deep at the deepest, and dotted with tufts of sturdy dry grass and the trunks of scrub pine where vegetation had found root in pinches of soil.

* * *

When the weather turned cold, we went there with the unerring instinct of birds migrating. On that small body of water we could test the ice. The testing was crude. We'd pry a boulder from adjoining rock and heave it out onto the ice. Usually the surface was too thin and the boulder went through, spoiling the pond for later sliding.

When our first test weight didn't make a hole and disappear, we sent the smallest of the crowd out to see if the ice would bear his weight. Not that the smallest of us wanted to go. He didn't like falling in any more than the others. Still, under the discipline of the gang, he went, fearful and with a push, if necessary, from his biggers and betters.

When the ice bore him, he enjoyed a moment of glory—the first one on the smooth surface, the pathfinder. When it broke he emerged dripping, crying and emitting astonishingly bad language and accusations.

After successful preliminary tests, the gang would descend on the ice, subjecting it to the next experiment, a heel-and-toe kicking by boys whose boots carried blakeys until a hole was gouged out and we could measure the thickness.

We created a slide there, running down the border rocks and launching ourselves off to glide over the slippery surface until we collided with the jack pines, or snubbed up on branches that had fallen from them and were frozen in.

And we staged hockey games there, with improvised sticks and as much space as a reasonably sized living room would provide.

There came a time when I inherited a pair of pattern skates, thick Sheffield steel blades anchored in wooden forms that were screwed into the heels of your leckies and strapped around the toes of the boots. These were implements of magic. On a space not much bigger than four good-sized dining tables pushed together, and through the agony of bruises, I learned to skate. Winter became magnificent.

In later years the sport assumed new stature for me. Greater sheets of ice became available at Goodacre Lake in Beacon Hill, on Panama Flats and Quick's Pond, even on the big lakes, Prospect, Elk, Beaver and Langford, on those lovely over-sized ponds in the Highlands and even on Portage Inlet when the freeze-up was hard and prolonged.

There was, of course, also the Patrick rink at the Willows when a boy could put together 15 cents for afternoon admission.

* * *

There is no longer a pond in the rocks south of Peacock Plain. There isn't even a Peacock Plain. Subdivision and home building have looked after that. If I were to put on skates to try out the area where I first learned to stand on them, some very angry home-owner would want to know what I was doing scoring his living room floor.

The change doesn't matter much to me. In the drawer of an old bureau at home are a well-used pair of "Tubes" just about a size small for my feet as they are at present. It is surprising to me that my feet have grown in later years, but the man who sells me shoes explains it.

"Astonishing, isn't it," he remarked once, "that when you think you have stopped growing, your feet get narrower and longer when the rest of you . . . he let the sentence fall away as his eyes, rising from my shoes, took in the indentation my belt makes around my waistline.

Anyhow, by rigid self-discipline, I have overcome my former great appetite for skating. I have schooled myself to the point now that when an urge for violent physical exercises seizes me, I put my mind on other things, and the urge passes off.

LONDON LETTER By WALLACE REYBURN

Canadian Heads BBC Drama

LONDON—Round and about . . . One of the local papers claims that Canada's Sydney Newman is meeting with a lot of resentment at the BBC, where he takes over the plum job of head of drama in the middle of January.

Reyburn

They quote him as saying that he plans to divest all the BBC drama producers of their title of "producer" and call them merely "directors" — he himself will be the producer of all plays going out from the BBC.

The paper says his view is: "I don't understand this cachet 'BBC producer,' I don't think it's important."

To which one of the producers in question has replied: "Frankly we don't think much of this bloke announcing he's going to take away our title before he's even here officially."

Newman has been hired by the BBC after making a name for himself as drama chief of ABC commercial television, where he was billed as producer of all plays.

I checked with him about this report of animosity towards him within the BBC. "A fabrication," he said. "I've had meetings with all of them and everything's going smoothly."

Which is quite an achievement for someone, especially from the dominions, moving into that hotbed of petty rivalry—the BBC.

Businesses Ignored Call to Cut Credit

By DON HANRIGHT

OTTAWA (CP)—When the Bank of Canada speaks, not everyone jumps.

Former governor James E. Coyne—apparently concerned about inflation—made separate attempts during the 1956 economic boom in Canada to get department stores and instalment finance companies to hold the line on consumer credit.

Obviously they didn't like the idea because no agreement was reached.

This was revealed for the first time Thursday when the present bank governor, Louis Rasminsky, was questioned by the royal commission on banking and finance on the use of "moral suasion" by the central bank.

The term is used to describe the efforts of the Bank of Canada, in cases where it is unable to draw on any statutory power to impose its will, to persuade various institutions to follow a certain course in the public interest.

Mr. Rasminsky said he, too, has used moral suasion since he became governor of the bank 18 months ago.

"I have been satisfied with the results," he said.

But he declined to reveal the timing, nature of the persuasion, or the institutions involved.

TSHOMBE DEFEAT START OF WHITE'S DOWNFALL?

By ARTHUR L. GAVSHON

LONDON (AP)—The political skies are lowering over white man's Africa.

Moise Tshombe's Katanga is breaking down as a state and as a barrier to ever-thrusting African nationalism.

In the south lie four white supremacy states where 4,000,000 whites, whose ancestors opened up Africa's interior, rule nearly 30,000,000 Negroes.

Governments of the central African federation of the Rhodesias and Nyasaland, the Portuguese colonies of Angola and Mozambique and the Republic of South Africa today form an informal alliance.

Their power rests, as it has done since the Dutch settled the Cape 310 years ago, on technique and knowledge, on wealth and armed force. They are unofficially led by Premier Hendrik F. Verwoerd's South Africa with its strong, gold-based economy and modern armed forces.

The outcome of Tshombe's 30-month venture in Katangan statehood takes on a special meaning against this background.

The United Nations' rout of Katangan forces is taken as a victory for the recently independent Negro states of Africa which backed the world body, and a defeat for the whites who backed Tshombe.

In the second place a major precedent has been set for UN intervention by force in the political affairs of a member state.

MAY BE PRELUDE

The battle for Katanga, then, may be a grim prelude for the wider, more historic contests that lie ahead between the new states of black Africa and the old ones of white Africa.

If a fight to the finish between north and south is coming, how will it be fought?

Can the white man hold out in his southern bastion?

Will the Negroes be able to prevail upon the United Nations to intervene once more by a majority vote in the General Assembly?

These are key questions and their answers lie in pages of history yet to be written.

But pointers are available in the way white men see the unfolding pattern of events in the north and the way Negroes view the southern prospect

To such Rhodesians as Federal Prime Minister Sir Roy Welensky, to Portuguese authorities in Lisbon and to such South Africans as Verwoerd, it is a first principle that the Negro is unfit for government now.

To them that means Negro governments simply cannot be efficient, militarily capable or strong in modern terms.

They think poverty, ill-health and an incapacity for 20th century techniques and organization will be inevitable companions of Negro statehood for another 50 or 100 years.

All this suggests to the white man that he need fear no military threat from his northern neighbors in the foreseeable future.

Some black leaders take another view.

They believe the white supremacy states—which they maintain are police states—are on the defensive. They are confident Welensky's federation is doomed.

BRITAIN LEAVING

They believe Britain is disengaging itself as honorably and as swiftly as possible in its African possessions because the British have seen the writing on the wall.

They do not expect to be able to topple the southern rulers by military means. But they feel they have a few lessons to teach their fellow-Africans in the south in the exercise of subversion and other tools of the African nationalist's trade.

There is, moreover, one other factor of which both sides are aware in the unfolding power struggle.

This is the role of the United Nations can play in exerting stiff international pressure, with the threat of action, on white man's Africa—particularly Southern Rhodesia and Southwest Africa, a trust territory governed by Verwoerd's South Africa.

To the white man this possibly represents a real peril.

To the black man it is a promise.

Victoria Police Won't Accept Charges of Incompetence

By IAIN HUNTER

Police in Greater Victoria need not accept anything from Vancouver—neither its criminals nor its crimefighting methods.

This is the firm conviction of the average peace officer in the city and surrounding municipalities — the constable on the beat, the police detective.

It is also the conviction of more senior police officials.

Detectives point out that the rash of recent break-ins is not the work of hoodlums from "out of town." It is not a result of the criminal "overflow from Vancouver" attracted to an area "where crime can be committed, and go unsolved," in the words of Victoria Chamber of Commerce president John Wallace.

They're Watched

"We know these Vancouver boys and have them under surveillance as soon as they hit town," a Saanich detective told a Times reporter today.

"They've had nothing to do with these jobs," he said, referring to the burglaries which have taken place in the area since November.

"In most cases it's the local boy just out of prison on the mainland who comes back to his home town to pull these jobs," the detective explained.

Another policeman said youths who have no previous record are "attracted to the old-timers like flies" and are "pressured" into committing a crime.

Old Hands' Work

So-called "crime-waves," including the recent rash of break-ins, usually receive impetus from the veteran burglar.

So far detectives have found none of the recent break-ins is an isolated job.

Police in Greater Victoria feel that the number of arrests following inter-municipal investigation into the burglaries shows they are "on the job."

Despite statements issuing from City Hall and the attorney-general's department, they feel their competence has been questioned by initiation of the forthcoming inquiry by ex-Vancouver police chief George Archer.

This is more obvious because Mr. Archer took over in Vancouver after the Tupper commission uncovered instances of corruption and inefficiency in the Vancouver force.

No Corruption

"Sure there's something wrong here," a city policeman said, "but there doesn't have to be corruption because things are wrong."

City police particularly are angered by "penny-pinching" in providing police facilities, and the haphazard system of promotions where seniority is not respected.

At the same time officers are hurt by criticism from city merchants.

"We don't go into the city and tell them how to run their businesses," a detective from one of the municipalities protested.

Deputy Chief John Hamilton of Saanich came to the defence of his detectives Wednesday.

"There's been a lot of criticism and it's unfair. But while we're on the job we can't fight back," he said.

Even while Chamber of Commerce officials and other merchants were complaining about the Greater Victoria forces, city and municipal police were questioning suspects.

Four arrests have been made and more are to follow, detectives promised.

City police were particularly concerned about the report a police school was to be conducted by RCMP Sgt. Allan Foster.

"What do they (the RCMP) know about city work?" one Victoria policeman demanded. "Our job is completely different from theirs."

He scorned suggestions that police officers should have to go "back to school."

The only way policemen could learn their job was through practical experience, he contended.

Labor Strife Injunctions Irk Minister

VANCOUVER (CP) — Labor Minister Peterson said Thursday night he is displeased at the number of labor-management injunctions the courts have issued and the conditions under which some have been granted.

But he gave no hint of labor law changes in a speech to the Vancouver chapter of the Financial Executives Institute

"These injunctions have not been granted because of our legislation," he said. "Injunctions issued during 1962 could have been issued in previous years."

"As a matter of fact, the Trade Union Act now restricts the length of time during which an ex-parte injunction can remain in effect."

He said whenever a labor leader or politician—he said it is becoming increasingly difficult to distinguish the two—becomes unhappy about labor developments they generally attack amendments to the Trades Act or the Labor Relations Act.

But analysis would probably show there was no connection.

Socreds Turn To TV

VANCOUVER (CP) — Lower Mainland Social Credit constituency associations will begin a series of weekly 15-minute television programs this month over CHAN-TV here.

The programs, with the first at 11:10 p.m. Saturday, January 19, will feature talks on national Social Credit policy by party leader Robert N. Thompson.

Funds for the programs have been raised through personal contributions, a party statement said, and proceeds from a $10-a-plate dinner held here in August.

The television venture is Social Credit's second move into broadcasting this month.

Premier Bennett started a weekly radio series on two Vancouver stations last Saturday at 6:15 p.m.

New Tourist Body Headed By Victorian

Stanley Booker, Victoria restaurant man, was named chairman of a recently-organized tourist promotion organization at a meeting of directors in Nanaimo Thursday.

The directors also chose a name for the organization, Visitors Services' Association.

Arthur Brown of Qualicum was elected vice-chairman and Frank W. Ericson of Sooke was chosen secretary-treasurer.

Mr. Booker said after the that the association would cooperate closely with the new Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau which will have its founding meeting at Nanaimo next Friday.

SPORTS DIARY

By JIMMY CANNON

NEW YORK—The present was a wilderness where Rogers Hornsby dwelt as a hermit in the cave of his self-cherished greatness. Time, as Hornsby regarded it, betrayed baseball when it slew the past. He estimated progress to be the assassin of the sport.

The game stopped for Hornsby when he put his bat in the rack for the final time in 1937. Maimed by athletic senility, Hornsby, as the manager of the St. Louis Browns, pinch hit in 20 games for an average of .321 in his 24th season. The modern player disgusted Hornsby, who died last Saturday at 66. It was his prejudiced belief they performed an inept parody of the game which he insisted once was served by a sect of gloriously talented fanatics.

Envy didn't create this attitude. If you were Rogers Hornsby it would be impossible to be jealous of another man. He was specific about his own greatness and measured it with the viciousness of his continuously expressed version of truth. His views were prejudiced but this was a man who never deliberately uttered a lie for any reason. I have never met a more honest man.

There was no process by which Hornsby could comprise with his opinions. They were declaimed without pity and spared no one. He was positive he was the greatest of all right-handed batters. It was a logical assumption which even Hornsby's numerous enemies declined to dispute.

Insolence Kept Roger on the Move

As a skillful second baseman, whose only defect was an occasional tendency to misjudge pop flys dropping behind him, Hornsby managed the Cardinals to a championship. After that he was a spectacular migrant who drifted through the National League in trades which were usually inspired by insolence to his bosses. I surmise the only manager Rogers Hornsby ever played for whom he respected was Rogers Hornsby.

Horse-playing was a vice which he refused to enjoy surreptitiously. Owners complained about his dedication to race gambling and Kenesaw Mountain Landis, the baseball commissioner, reprimanded him for it.

I admired his obstinacy in practicing it publicly although it put his manager's jobs in jeopardy. Once Hossby grieved that he hadn't been to a track for a year. But he made it clear that he hadn't been intimidated by any power except his own will.

"My handicapper died," he explained.

* * *

It is to his credit that he didn't have two sets of managers as so many men who are disagreeable to the help do. They were all equal, franchise holder and utility infielder, star or travelling secretary. He turned on them all without any appraisal of the consequences.

It was decided by Landis that Hornsby couldn't play for the Giants to whom the Cards sent him because he owned stock in the St. Louis company.

The attorney for the Giants, Leo Bondy, came to his hotel room and advised Hornsby he would represent him in negotiating the sale. The great batter listened to the lawyer who explained he had been assigned by the Giant owner to straighten the matter out.

"Why don't you mind your own business," said Hornsby who wouldn't allow anyone to interfere with any business he believed was his to handle.

* * *

Once, when he managed the Reds, they arranged for a bonus kid to give a hitting demonstration for photographers and sports journalists. The boy, obviously nervous, struck a couple of meandering grounders.

"What do you think of him, Rog," one of the reporters asked.

"I can spit further than he can hit," replied Hornsby.

When Gabe Paul, then the Cincinnati general manager brought Hornsby back to the big leagues, he suggested they meet to discuss their talent.

"I want to tell you about our young prospects," Paul said.

"I'll tell you after I see them," Hornsby said.

On the road trips the Reds made, Hornsby, who generally ate alone, found a dinner companion. He chose Tom Swope, a sports writer, who belonged to his generation. Their discussions, overheard by the ball players Hornsby managed, were dominated by his praise of old guys and the ridicule of the active ones.

No One Doubts His Skill With Bat

"I'd rather have Grover Cleveland Alexander looped with us," was one of Hornsby's constant remarks, "than this whole pitching staff in good shape."

On a World Series train, Hornsby one night entertained a group of us with a denunciation of general managers. They were merely clerks, Hornsby claimed, who stood between the manager and the owner. It was his calmly stated premise that every general manager in baseball should be fired immediately. Guys were making notes. The story would appear the next day. I reminded Hornsby that he would be asking the general managers he loathed for the job he needed.

"It's the truth, isn't it?" he said.

Some players, such as Gil McDougald, revered this lonely rebel as an enlightened pedagogue of the sport. But most of them were repelled by his scorn. I seldom agreed with Hornsby and we argued a lot. His philosophy was obsolete but he held onto his theories until the day he died.

He knew he was a victim of his own candor. But the dissemination of the truth as he saw it became a crusade. Wrong he was, and often. But Rogers Hornsby was the greatest of all right-handed batters. No one doubts that.

DODGERS MAY NEVER GET OVER THE SHOCK

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Los Angeles Dodgers said Thursday that pitcher Johnny Podres has set some kind of record for speed and trustfulness in accepting his 1963 contract.

Podres read in the papers that the contracts had been mailed to Dodger players, but he hadn't received his yet.

He fired off a wire from his home at Witherbee, N.Y., to Dodger general manager Buzzy Bavasi:

"Accept 1963 terms."

Podres, who became a regular with the Dodgers in Brooklyn in 1953, will get about $30,000, the Dodgers said.

Johnston Stars In Win; U.S.-Born Player Richer

BOSTON (AP)—Tommy Williams is $500 richer today but the man who has built a fire under Boston Bruins is rookie goaltender Ed Johnston.

The National Hockey League tailenders out-battled first-place Chicago Black Hawks 5-4 Thursday night with Charlie Burns furnishing the deciding goal at 12:47 of the final period.

Coach Milt Schmidt called it "the club's most impressive all around performance" since he regained the reins from Phil Watson.

"They were more aggressive, played some defence and put the puck in the net," Schmidt continued.

Lanky Johnston made 33 saves for the Bruins. He robbed two of the game's finest scoremasters, Red Hay and Bobby Hull, just before the final buzzer.

BOIVIN BANGED UP

One of three American-born players in the NHL, Williams scored his 15th goal of the season, which means a $500 bonus to him through a clause written into his contract.

Little Guy Gendron, improving steadily after a slow start this season due to an appendectomy, assisted on the Williams goal, then scored twice himself.

Defenceman Leo Boivin suffered a badly bruised left ankle and his availability against Montreal in the Canadian city Saturday night is questionable.

In Montreal, the matchless Gordie Howe led Detroit Red Wings to a 3-2 win over the Canadiens with two goals and an assist.

It was the first win in six games for the fourth - place Wings. But they may have paid dearly for it.

Goalie Terry Sawchuk's right ankle was injured in the pregame warmup when it was hit accidentally by the skate of teammate Bill Gadsby.

HAB STREAK SNAPPED

Sawchuk stayed in until the 16-minute mark of the second period, when he aggravated the injury and was replaced by Dennis Riggin.

Sawchuk, a 33-year-old veteran in his 13th season in the NHL, was limping badly after the game. He said he wouldn't know the extent of the injury until he gets it x-rayed later today as the team passes through Toronto.

Detroit broke a 10-game unbeaten streak for the Canadiens, who had done the same thing to the Wings when Detroit built up a 10-game streak early in the season.

LIONS' HOME GAMES MAY HIT CITY SCREEN

VANCOUVER (CP)—Herb Capozzi, general manager of the British Columbia Lions, said Thursday night the Western Conference football club may show eight home games on theatre television in Victoria this year.

He said the tentative top price for seats for the eight games is $25.

"This sort of thing has gone over well in Toronto," said Capozzi following the club's annual meeting. "The view of football is fantastic on the wide theatre screen."

Junior Puckmen Viewed by 4,642

Pacific Coast Junior Hockey League players who moved into Memorial Arena for a game Thursday agreed this particular outing created "a strange sensation."

Used to playing before only friends, members of the immediate family and a handful of fans, the juniors found that things were different playing before a packed house.

A crowd estimated at 4,642 fans—by far the largest of the season—turned out on "Pony Night."

But things weren't any different on the ice. League-leading New Westminster Royals, breaking away from Victoria's determined checking in the opening period, rammed in five second-period goals to coast to an 8-3 victory over the Cougars.

The turnout and the pony given away to a lucky ticket-holder (Keith George of 3170 Mars Street) were the big things on this particular evening.

And, of course, the Royals. This despite the fact the league-leaders were outplayed for two of the three periods. Cougars' second-period letdown was the deciding factor.

SCHAEFER BACK

Scoring-leader Leroy Mowery and Paddy Driscoll paced Westminster's attack with two goals apiece. Marty Schaefer, who only recently returned to Royals after a brief tryout with Regina Pats of the Saskatchewan Junior League, Don Prowal and Bill Bowles added Royals' other goals.

Larry Johnston scored twice for Victoria with Glen Robertson adding the other.

CHIEFS PLAY SATURDAY

Haida Pilot Fears Puritans' Defence

Coach Ken King should be in a happy, relaxed frame of mind for his Haida Chiefs' engagement with Vancouver Puritans Saturday at Central Junior High.

With only five Intercity Basketball League games to play Chiefs share second with New Westminster. Each has 10 points, six less than North Vancouver Harlems.

	GP	W	L	F	A	Pts
N. V. Harlems	10	8	2	615	561	16
VICTORIA	10	5	5	572	617	10
N. W. Bakers	10	5	5	670	617	10
Puritans	10	2	8	546	605	4

Next games: Saturday—Bakers vs. Nocturnes at Vancouver; Puritans vs. VICTORIA 8:30, Central Junior High School.

Puritans lounge in the cellar, three games (or six points shy of a playoff berth) as matters stand today.

But is Mr. King gay, carefree, laughing? No, he isn't.

"I'm worried," he said today.

What's the matter? Somebody take the air out of your basketballs?

"No," he said. "It's Puritans. They have been fooling around with a zone defence. It bothered New Westminster. Even Harlem had trouble with it. I hope we don't. But you never can tell. They are better than a last-place club."

WANTS INSURANCE

If Haidas win Saturday, a playoff berth is almost assured. If they lose, Puritans will be within breathing distance.

Mr. King hopes his Chiefs will buy a little insurance in the form of victory. He starts finding out Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

Harlems had to struggle most of the way against the Puritan zone defence at Vancouver Thursday night, but the league leaders had too much experience and fire power and pulled away in the late stages to trim Puritans 70-36.

Riley Jones paced Harlems with 20 points. Mike Lemon and Hunter Candlish, each with 12, topped Puritan snipers.

Harlems — Price 12, Braithewaite 6, Winn 3, Knight 9, Henley 2, Jones 20, Stulac 16, Gilliam 2. Total—70.
Puritans — Malecki 6, Heathcote 4, Clark 5, Candlish 12, Lemon 12, Brown 10, Galway 7. Total—56.

Trial Match Set Saturday

Prospects for places on Victoria's representative rugby side are scheduled to compete in their second trial match Saturday at Macdonald Park.

Reds are slated to play the Blues in a match starting at 2:30.

Saturday's lineups:

Blues—Larry Lutz, Eric Dalley, Al Foster, Dennis Wing, Bon Hutchison, Don Burgess, Dick Archer, Sonny Vickery, Ron Gower, Dave Brice, Bob Coutts, Bruce Mason, Don Moore, Dave Pfaff, Gordie Leidal.

Reserves—Bob Sterling, Bob Turner Mel Spotswood, Jack Angus.

LISTON REFUSES . . . . . . BOUT IN MIAMI

Fight in Court First?

NEW YORK (AP) — Unless there's some ballyhoo going on, Sonny Liston and Floyd Patterson are likely to fight in court before they get together again in the ring to decide the world heavyweight boxing championship.

Champion Liston tossed his weight (220 pounds) into the oratorical battle Thursday and said flatly there will be no title rematch with Patterson in Miami Beach April 4.

Furthermore, the champ said, the fight will have to be in Baltimore in May. But not before Championships Sports Incorporated pays him the $207,000 he says he still has coming to him for flattening Patterson in the first round in Chicago Sept. 25.

The champion's cries of protest, made through adviser Jack Nilon in Chester, Pa., and publicity man Ben Bentley in Chicago, stemmed from the disclosure Wednesday by Julius November, Patterson's attorney, of the former champ's decision on the rematch.

Under the terms of the contract for the first fight, Patterson holds the right to name the date, site and promoters. There is also a $1,000,000 penalty clause in case Liston violates the contract.

"Sonny and I discussed Patterson's decision at length last night," Nilon said. "We decided it was unreasonable to fight in Miami in April for Championship Sports in the light of the fact that Championship Sports has not paid us for the bout in September.

November replied:

"Floyd had given Nilon notice of his decision to hold the return fight in Miami Beach April 4. Actually the April date was to accommodate Liston. Floyd would have preferred May."

What about a May date?

"I guess that will be all right but not in Baltimore," said November.

What if Liston won't fight on Patterson's terms?

"We'll go to court," said November. "We don't want to do that, but what else can you do?"

'HEY! . . . LOOKIT THAT WILLYA!'

They might have been watching an off-ice scrap or hockey game or looking for pony they had come to win. But there is no denying enthusiasm 4,642 baying youngsters showed at Memorial Arena Thursday night. Occasion was Pony Night, when live Shetland was offered to lucky ticket holder, who proved to be Keith George, 3170 Mars. Partisan crowd had little to cheer about in Pacific Coast Junior Hockey League game as Victoria Cougars bowed 8-3 to New Westminster. Not so enthusiastic was adult fan who forgot to bring ear muffs to drown noise. (Times photo by Halkett.)

Lone Weak Shot Costs Leonard SD Open Lead

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (CP)—But for a shot that went awry, Vancouver's Stan Leonard would be sharing the lead today going into the second round of the $25,000 San Diego open.

The veteran Canadian golfer hit a bad second shot on the par-four 6th hole in Thursday's opening round and took a five—the only hole on which he failed to fire par or better.

Leonard finished with a six-under-par 65 and tied with two others a stroke behind leader Billy Casper Jr., trying for his first win in his hometown tournament.

Gary Player of South Africa and Tony Lena of San Leandro, Calif., were deadlocked with Leonard in the runner-up spot in the 72-hole event.

Veterans Fred Hawkins and Julius Boros and Young Jacky Cupit were tied, one stroke behind Leonard, Player and Lemu, with 66s.

Toronto's lanky Alvie Thompson, was also within striking distance with a two-under-par 69.

BALDING SLUMPS

Al Balding of Toronto, who carded a sparkling 68 in the pro-amateur tournament which preceded the open, slumped to a 72 Thursday. Jerry Magee and George Knudson, both of Toronto, were 71 and 73 respectively. Montreal's Al Johnston had 74.

Casper, 31, who also had one bad shot—on the 5th, which he managed to par—played almost flawless golf as he carded his 33-31—64 on the 35-36—71 layout.

USED NEW PUTTER

"I nearly birdied every hole," he said after shooting one of his finest rounds. He took only 29 putts and registered seven birdies.

Leonard, who credited a new putter with some of his success, hit his second shot 50 yards short of the 16th green but recovered to birdie the next hole by sinking a 5-foot putt.

He bought his new putter Wednesday.

"I've been putting so badly I just had to do better," he smiled.

Leonard had a brilliant first round with a five-under-par 30 and had a one-under-par 35 on the back nine holes.

Player was 32-33, Lema 31-34.

United Loses Fleet Winger

Victoria United, scheduled to play an Anderson Cup soccer semifinal away from home this weekend, received some bad news Thursday.

Winger Henry Vanderhost, Victoria's second best goal-producer in this season's Pacific Coast League campaign, has been sidelined for four weeks because of a cracked leg bone.

The injury occurred in a Dec. 29 match against Wallace Pilseners.

The speedy forward's injury trims United's roster to 13 players for Sunday's semifinal against Canadians, the PCSL leaders. Centre forward Chummy Crabbe, nursing a badly-bruised shoulder, also will miss this week's encounter at Callister Park.

* * *

With the Coast Leaguers away, first division teams of the District League direct soccer's spotlight on themselves this weekend. All matches, however, stand under the threat of postponement because of the cold weather.

League secretary Bill Scobbie said postponement decisions will be left entirely in the hands of referees.

* * *

A great deal of attention will also be focussed on a second division argument at Victoria West Park. That's where a strengthened Navy team plays unbeaten Eddys.

In other second division matches, Oak Bay and Island Tug tangle at Carnarvon Park, PPCLI faces Victoria College at Work Point, Drakes meet Saanich Warriors at Naden and Victoria Press clashes with Kings at Hampton Park.

All matches are slated for 2 p.m. except in the Combination League, which swings into the second half of its schedule Saturday.

Royal Roads, sharing first place with Firefighters and William Head, hosts Malahat Tars at 10:15 on the Royal Roads field.

Firefighters and William Head match skills at William Head at 2:15, the same time as Victoria College "B" plays Falcons at Gordon Head.

LEADING GOALIE in Esquimalt District Hockey League with fine 1.90 goals-against average, Pontiac Chiefs' Ron Griffis (above) goes looking for his second straight shutout tonight when leaders tackle Navy at Sports Centre. Crucial game at 7:45 opens double-header that also has Army meeting Victoria College Vikings.

Aussie XI Best On Opening Day

SYDNEY, Australia (Reuters) —Captain Richie Benaud and his Australians are fighting back hard in an effort to square the test series with England.

They had the best of the first day of the third match in the five-game series by taking seven England wickets for 256 today.

England, which won the second test — the first was drawn — reached 201 for the loss of only three wickets, but then four more fell for 20 runs.

Leg-spinner Bobby Simpson claimed two at a cost of two runs and left-arm fast bowler Alan Davidson dismissed Ken Barrington and John Murray in successive balls, both men being leg-before.

A crowd of 54,476, one of the biggest ever to watch a game at Sydney, saw an absorbing day's cricket. It was sometimes slow, but always had purpose, and few at the close could have felt dissatisfied.

Colin Cowdrey made 85 before being caught and Geoff Pullar had a solid 53, helping English captain Ted Dexter (32) add 61 in 82 minutes for the second wicket.

Fred Titmus and an unusually disciplined Fred Trueman held out for the last 45 minutes to add 35 and make the picture a little brighter for England.

Medal Series Opens Sunday At Oak Bay

AVOID TROUBLE

Let's assume you're facing an iron shot to the green which is 150 yards away. You know that normally, a six-iron should carry you this distance.

The green is fairly open in front, there's a fence and an out of bounds just behind the green.

Your six-iron shot is hit well, and a following breeze causes the ball to skip off the green where it hits and to end up out of bounds.

Should you have used the seven-iron? Yes. Even if the seven-iron had landed short of the green, it might have rolled on. At least it was clear there and you wouldn't have had the penalty shots the out of bounds gave you.

Think the hole through before you start. Consider which method is safest for approaching the green.

WILD GAME AT L.A.

Saunders Enjoys Six-Point Outing

By The Canadian Press

A referee and trainer were injured in a rough Western Hockey League game Thursday night—and Los Angeles Blades' feelings were hurt.

The Blades were walloped 10-3 by the Southern Division leading Portland Buckaroos in one of the wildest games of the season in Los Angeles.

Hero of the game was Buckaroo left winger Bill Saunders, who scored three goals and added three assists.

Referee Jerry Olinski suffered a gash over his left eye when he tried to break up a scuffle in the first period and Dave Parker, Blades' trainer, was taken to hospital for X-rays. Parker was hit by a door that flew open as two players crashed into it.

The game was delayed 15 minutes while Olinski received four stitches.

Portland came out of the first period with a 2-1 lead, then scored five goals in the second against two for Los Angeles.

Gord Fashoway scored twice and singles came from Mike Donaldson, Gerry Goyer, Arlo Goodwin, Tom McCarthy and Tom McVie.

Defenceman Jack Bowness, who took over the Blades as playing coach this year, scored his fourth goal of the season. Stan Maxwell and Lloyd Haddon got the other Blade goals.

Tonight Vancouver hosts Calgary and Seattle is at Edmonton.

Cooper Converts Difficult Split

Bowlers will tell you it is harder to make the 7-10 split than it is to roll a perfect game of tenpins.

Bert Cooper joined the 7-10 club this week. Rolling for Playmates in the Wednesday Commercial League at Aurora Lanes, Cooper pulled off the rare shot—believed to be only the second time it was ever accomplished in Victoria bowling circles.

'Sure I Hanged the Dog'

KITCHENER, Ont. (CP)—A charge of unlawfully killing an animal, brought against a dog-catcher who admitted hanging a dog, has been dismissed.

Magistrate A. D. Barron ruled Thursday the only issue was the right of Wellesley Township dog-catcher Charles B. Moore to destroy the dog, not the method of destruction.

Evidence indicated Moore, 62, "had some right to destroy the dog", Magistrate Barron said.

Moore was suspended by the Wellesley Township council early last month after Moore told them: "I certainly did hang the dog and I'll hang another one too. Is there a law against it?

"I gave the dog a fair trial. I did everything I could and then I hung him, same as they hang a man."

Israel Brubacher, of Wallenstein, owner of the dog, said Moore told him November 29 he would have to pay $7 for two of Brubacher's dogs that had strayed the day before.

Mr. Brubacher said he told Moore he would pay only $3.50 and when Moore refused to accept this told him to "either sell them or shoot them, I don't care"

Crown attorney Harold Daufman said Mr. Brubacher had in effect told Moore he could do what he liked with the dogs.

BORDER WAR PARLEY TOPIC

NEW DELHI (Reuters)—Ceylonese Prime Minister Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike and Indian Prime Minister Nehru held a two-hour discussion today on the Indian border dispute with Communist China.

Asked if she was optimistic about the talks, Mrs. Bandaranaike said "I have always been hopeful, otherwise I would not have come."

Nehru declined to comment, saying it was not good to comment in the middle of talks.

New Air Strike on Rebels

SAIGON (AP)—The growing armada of combat planes in South Viet Nam took off today to support a large new ground operation in the Mekong delta, to smash at jungle objectives and to hunt for a missing American plane.

Twenty-two planes were assigned to the air search. A two-engined U.S. Army reconnaissance plane was presumed crashed somewhere in jungle-covered mountains about 250 miles northeast of Saigon.

The missing plane, its American pilot and a Vietnamese Army observer took off from the town of Qui Nhon Thursday.

Both men aboard were armed and carried survival kits, but the probable area of the crash is heavily infested by Communist guerrillas.

The latest ground operation was aimed at an objective in the Mekong delta. U.S. Army troop-carrying helicopters supported by armed escort helicopters, landed assault troops after heavy air strikes.

Intensive air strikes were carried out on the Communist-controlled jungle enclave known as D Zone northeast of here. Smoke was seen rising from dozens of points in the jungle after rockets and napalm were poured in.

RED MISTAKE was admitted unofficially when Bulgarian Communist Party recommended Traicho Kostov, party leader and deputy premier executed for treason in 1949, be made a posthumous "hero of socialist labor." He had been charged with plotting with U.S., Britain and Yugoslavia against Bulgarian regime, and Stalin himself accused him of a "nationalist" attitude towards the Soviet Union.

NEW HARBOR TUG TO ADD FIRE PUNCH

A new addition to Island Tug and Barge Ltd.'s fleet of towboats will also add to Victoria's waterfront fire protection.

The new tug, ordered this week from Star Shipyards, New Westminster, will be equipped with two monitors with hose connections and foam equipment. A 150-horsepower diesel motor will drive a pump giving the monitors capacity of 1,800 gallons a minute for a distance of 180 feet.

The tug, to be used for general harbor work, will be 42 feet long, 14 feet in beam. Contract is far about $100,000.

Island Tug has also ordered four new steel scows, 168 feet long and 46 feet in beam, at a total cost of $450,000. Contract was split evenly between Victoria Machinery Depot and Yarrows Ltd.

Prelate Wanted Aid Kept Secret

BOSTON (AP)—Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, has disclosed that he raised $1,000,000 to help liberate Cuban invasion prisoners.

Cardinal Cushing released a statement Thursday identifying himself as solely responsible for the collection of the $1,000,000. He said he made the statement because of the many rumors concerning the "mysterious donor."

The prelate also said he wanted to clarify reports that the gift had come from sources "with which I have no identification."

"It is appropriate and fitting . . . for a Catholic prelate of the United States to have a part in the liberation of the 'Cuban fighters' who love their country and the faith of their fathers," he said.

Cuban Prime Minister Castro made a last-minute demand for $2,900,000 in cash before he would release 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners. He claimed the money was owed him for the release last April of 60 other prisoners, sick and wounded.

The money was in addition to the $53,000,000 worth of food and drugs used to pay for freeing the 1,113 prisoners. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, head of a committee which advised and assisted families of the prisoners, obtained a $1,900,000 loan and his own signature. Then he sent telegrams to industry leaders seeking contributions toward the loan.

A survey by the Associated Press of 25 companies indicated that contributions to this special fund ranged from $10,000 to $150,000.

It was announced at the time that the other $1,000,000 was contributed, at the request of Attorney-General Kennedy by an anonymous donor.

In Washington, a justice department spokesman said the cardinal pledged the money as the direct result of a telephone call from Kennedy asking for help.

"There was no figure mentioned in the phone call," the spokesman said. "The attorney-general just asked the cardinal what he could do to help."

Cardinal Cushing, he added, asked Kennedy to keep the $1,000,000 donation anonymous. Kennedy did so.

Manuel Lopez, delegate in Boston of the Cuban Revolutionary Council, said: "I am not surprised. He has helped us right along.

"He's helped hundreds of refugees from Miami settle in and around Boston."

CANADA TOLD:

'Spend Millions On Humanities'

By JOHN E. BIRD

OTTAWA (CP) — Government, business and universities were told today they must spend millions more on research in the humanities and social sciences.

A report published by the humanities and soccial science research councils says unless this is done Canada's universities will be filled with third-rate students beng taught by third-rate American teachers within five years.

The report was written by Bernard Ostry, associate secretary - treasurer of the Humanities Research Council of Canada and the Social Science Research Council of Canada. It is based on a survey of more than 40 universities and graduate schools and on discussions with more than 700 teachers and most university or college presidents, principals and deans.

First comprehensive report of its kind in Canada, it was written by Mr. Ostry under a grant from the Canada Council. Similar surveys will be made annually in the future.

The report, published in English and French, calls for a crash program to raise the staus of these fields of learning in Canada and to permit Canadian teachers and their students a reasonable chance of competing successfully in the world.

WILL FORM BRIEF

Main recommendations which will form the basis of a brief to be presented to Prime Minister Diefenbaker, January 16, by the councils:

1. Immediate establishment in Otatwa of a national centre for research in the social sciences and humanities to complement the National Research Council's program to promote scientific research.

2. A doubling of the present spending power of the Canada Council with funds tied to the expansion of university graduate needs.

3. Provision of at least $100,000,000 for university libraries over the next five years.

4. Federal aid in the establishment of provincial councils of arts.

5. Additional tax relief for individuals and organizations making gifts to aid research in the humanities and social sciences.

6. Establishment of a new federal department, headed by a cabinet minister, to co-ordinate scientific and social research.

The Canada Council now operates under two $50,000,000 parliamentary grants. One is used to make construction grants to universities and the other is in an endowment fund with earnings earmarked for scholarships, fellowships and grants in the arts, humanities and social sciences.

The report says that Canadian institutions of higher learning cannot compete with "the better United States universities, which can offer higher salaries, research libraries, easier teaching loads, more graduate students and guaranteed research assistance".

Councils Asked To Act Fast On Home Bylaws

Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee Thursday sweated through a two-hour session working out an agreement for a joint juvenile detention home in an effort to beat a deadline.

The agreement—for construction and furnishing of the $100,000 development behind the Cook Street health and welfare building—must be consummated by January 21.

Otherwise, a low bid of $93,522 for the construction becomes void.

The committee asked the four councils to hold special meetings to adopt bylaws for the joint project and will ask the provincial government to expedite its approval.

And just to be on the safe side, it will ask contractor M. P. Paine to extend the time limit on his bid by 10 days.

Trustees Re-Elect Woman Chairman

Mrs. A. B. Thompson was re-elected chairman of the Greater Victoria School Board at a recent meeting.

This will be her second term as chairman of the board. She succeeded W. C. Gelling last year.

Elected vice-president was David Logan.

Committee members are: finance, Mr. Logan, J. W. Porteous, Mrs. E. M. Maunsell, D. E. Hookham; buildings and grounds, George Curran, P. G. Bunn, Mr. ~~Hookham~~, H. L. Clarkson; education, Mr. Porteous, Mr. Curran, Mrs. Maunsell, Dr. C. B. Jameson; public relations, Mr. Bunn, Dr. Jameson, Mr. Clarkson, Mrs. Maunsell; adult education, Mrs. Maunsell, with power to add.

APPOINTMENT as resident fellow of the Institute of Canadian Studies at Carlton University in Ottawa was announced Thursday for M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the CCF from 1938 to 1960. University leaders said the elder statesman of socialism will devote his time to work on his private papers and reminiscences.

Canada Aids Kenya

NAIROBI (Reuters)—The Canadian government will give Kenya a $65,000 grant to make a survey of Kenya's forest reserves, it was announced here.

Plane Hits Mountain

KODIAK, Alaska (AP) — A twin-engined navy patrol plane carrying a crew of 12 crashed and burned as it approached for a landing Thursday night.

Five survivors were taken to hospital at Kodiak naval station.

The plane, a P-2V, was approaching a landing strip at the navy installation when it hit Womens Mountain, about 1,000 feet high, near the end of the runway.

About 200 men from the naval station searched for the seven missing crew members.

Mass Grave Found

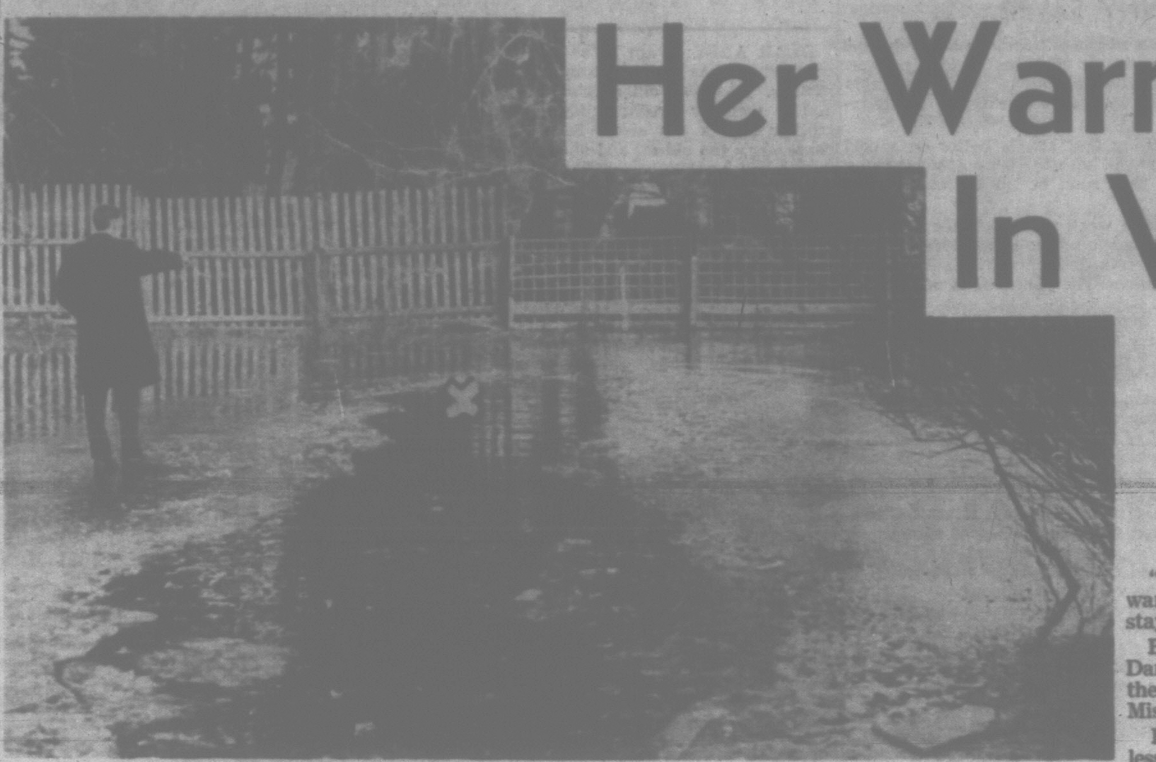
Her Warning In Vain

Little Boy Drowns



ICE WAS SLOWLY FORMING today over the Langford pond in which 7-year-old Daniel Belfour drowned Thursday afternoon. The ice shows the path taken by firemen who retrieved his body. Residents have forbidden their children to go near the spot, a favorite cold-weather play area. It was deserted today except for the lonely figure pointing to the place where the ice gave way under the weight of the little boy. (Times photo by Irving Strickland.)

By IAIN HUNTER

"I warned them. I warned them at noon to stay off the ice."

But seven-year-old Danny Belfour didn't heed the warning of his teacher Miss E. R. King.

Four hours later his lifeless body was pulled from under the ice which covered a pond on Millstream Road.

The fatal accident came in the midst of the first cold spell of the season, and in spite of police warnings to youngsters to stay off thin ice in Greater Victoria.

Danny had left Langford Elementary School where he was a Grade 2 pupil at about 3 p.m.

He had gone home, to 2774 Winster, where he lived alone with his father, Leslie Belfour, an employee of B.C. Forest Products.

MOTHER DEAD

His mother died in November, 1961.

Thursday, Mr. Belfour had to work night shift, and arrangements had been made for Danny to spend the night with his sister, Mrs. Anna Garcia, on Millstream Road.

Mr. Belfour left the house at about 3:30 p.m., when Danny started to make his way to his sister's house.

He never got there.

It is not known what caused him to go out on to the ice, but it is believed he may have been attracted by a number of youngsters skating around the edges of the pond.

ICE GAVE WAY

As he reached approximately the middle of the pond the ice gave way underneath him and he plunged into the icy water.

People living in the area estimated the pond, swollen by recent rains, is about six feet deep at this point.

Danny yelled to the skating children for help as he fell through, but they were unable to reach him on the cracking and splitting ice. Some ran for help.

DISAPPEARED

Langford volunteer fire department were at the scene minutes after they were called, but Danny had disappeared, after a futile struggle before they reached the hole in the ice.

The boy had been wearing gumboots.

An extension ladder was placed out to the hole in the ice, and firemen Frank Crowther and Douglas Smith plunged over the edge of the hole, up to their waists.

FOUND BODY

Vernon Edwards, 731 Station Road, stripped off coat and boots and dove down to locate Danny's body.

He had to dive twice before he found him.

Attempts were made to revive the boy by mouth-to-mouth respiration and a resuscitator. When this failed, Dr. A. B. Allen was called from the doctors' clinic in Colwood.

"It was all rather futile," Dr. Allen told the Times. "His heart had stopped by the time I got there, but I had to do something."

The doctor injected adrenaline into Danny's heart and applied external heart massage. There was no response.

Miss King, principal of Langford Elementary, said Danny had come to the school only last September, when he and his father had moved from Beechwood Ave. in Victoria.

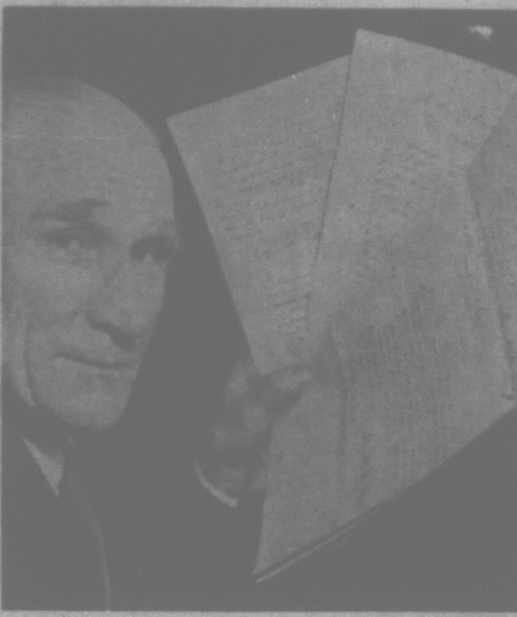
Previously the boy had attended Strawberry Vale School.

LONESOME

"He seemed a lonesome little youngster, perhaps because there was no one his age at home," Miss King said. "But he was a genuine child and very likeable."

She said she had warned pupils during noon hour, while they were playing in the school grounds, to stay off the ice. There is a similar, though smaller, pond on school property.

Funeral service for the dead boy will be held at 10:30 a.m. Monday in Sands Chapel of Heather. Burial will be in Hatley Memorial Park.



HISTORIC LETTERS written by Chief Justice Sir Matthew Begbie-Baillie, Judge Clement J. Cornwall and Henry Perring Pellew Crease in 1892 and 1893 were discovered recently in Victoria Courthouse. Registrar B. J. B. Morahan examines stylish handwriting. One of them records that Montague William Tyrwhitt-Drake, then a judge of the Supreme Court had administered the oath to Judge Cornwall. It was the same oath taken last Monday by his grandson, Judge Montague Tyrwhitt-Drake on his appointment to the County Court. (Times photo by Strickland.)

MONTE ROBERTS

Why is it when there is a warm spell, people greet each other by saying "is it hot enough for you," but when there is a you-know-what spell, people don't ask "is it cold enough for you?"

* * *

But you don't really call THIS a cold spell, do you?

If you think this is cold, you should have been with me the winter I spent in the wilds of Ontario.

(Lover girl, did you remember to close the door after you let the cat in?)

The winter I spent in the wilds of Ontario was even colder than the winter I spent in the wilds of Winnipeg.

Winter can get mighty wintry in the wilds of Winnipeg.

(Sweetie pie, are you SURE you closed the door after you let the cat in?)

But in Winnipeg, they expect winter, and make their igloos of solid brick, with central heating and built-in storm windows.

The winter I spent in the wilds of Ontario, though, I spent in a summer cottage.

Have you ever slept in a summer cottage when the thermometer said 38 below, and was probably afraid to reveal the real, low-down truth?

(Light of my life, you are POSITIVE you closed the back door after you let the cat in?)

I will admit, it was my own fault I never quite got around to winterizing this summer cottage before winter winged in on the back of a blizzard.

The blizzard was dandy, but after the snow came the cold, cold, COLD cold.

It was so cold, I devised my own pajamas.

(You DID close the back door after you let the cat in, didn't you, dear?)

My pajamas consisted of long johns, two pairs of knee-length wool socks, wool trousers over ski pants, a blanket coat, scarf, and hunting cap worn backward with the ear flaps down.

In this outfit, I crawled into a sleeping bag in front of a roaring fire in a huge open fireplace.

In the flickering light of the flames, I watched the frost forming inch-thick patterns on the ceiling above and the walls around.

Two feet from whichever side of me was facing the fire, the temperature was about 88 above.

Two feet from the other side, it was lower than Kennedy's opinion of Castro.

(Did you shoot the bolt on the back door after you closed it after letting the cat in?)

How I ever survived that winter in a summer cottage in the wilds of Ontario, I will never know.

And you call what is going on now in this, the Fairest City of Them All (Woman, I don't care WHAT you say about the back door, there's a draft coming from SOMEwhere) a cold spell?

People are getting mighty soft these days.

Motelmen Buck Civic Tax On Room Bills

'Inequitable Way To Raise Funds'

Suggestion that a three to five per cent civic tax be levied on hotel and motel room bills to finance tourist promotion activities met with a cold reception today from Victoria accommodation industry leaders.

The proposal was made in Vancouver by Ald. Marianne Linnell who has put it as a notice of motion before city council.

A. M. Titerle, president of the Victoria Auto Courts and Resorts Association, said the idea was discussed briefly at a directors' meeting Thursday night and was rejected on the grounds it was not an equitable means of raising funds.

"Unfortunately, a tax of this sort doesn't tap the major part of the tourist dollar," Mr. Titerle said." Only about 18 per cent of what the tourist spends here goes for accomodation."

Victoria Hotels' Association president Nick Renard protested: "I don't see why the accommodation industry should be ferretted out to pay for tourist promotion when all city businesses share in the benefits."

ALL MUST HELP

The hotel association, he said, was in favor of any "reasonable equation" by which all businesses benefitting from tourists would assist in directing funds to tourist advertising and promotion.

Mr. Renard said he was personally in favor of a small increase in the city business tax with the extra funds raised being earmarked for promotion. But any tax aimed solely at the hotel and motel industry, particularly one which would disrupt the present rate structure, would not be well received.

Mr. Titerle agreed with Mr. Renard that a rise in the business tax would be the fairest way of raising extra funds.

$3 PER UNIT

"In the meantime," he said, "members of our organization are agreed in principle to a levy of $3 a unit this year which will be contributed to support the Victoria Publicity Bureau, and we will go ahead with this plan."

Another ACCRA member, Herbert Plasterer, raised another objection to the civic tax idea when he pointed out that only about one-third of Greater Victoria's motels were located in the city.

But Ald. Arthur Dowell, chairman of city finance committee, said some way of raising adequate funds for tourist promotion must be found and the Vancouver proposal could be worth investigating.

School Boycott In Third Day

Nothing Less Than Underpass

The Mount Benson School boycott was in its third day today—the day six-year-old highway victim Alan Sheepwash was to be buried.

Only 38 of the 217 pupils were at the school near Nanaimo today, but the provincial education department plans no action against parents for truancy.

Most of the students have been kept at home since Alan was killed by a truck Tuesday.

A delegation of parents will meet Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi here Monday morning.

They say they will settle for nothing less than an underpass at the accident scene—a crosswalk on the Trans-Canada Highway three miles north of Nanaimo at the intersection of Jingle Pot Road.

If they fail with Mr. Gaglardi, they are prepared to go to Premier Bennett.

Education department officials believe the whole matter will be cleared up Monday, and that's why they aren't worried about truancy.

But officials of the highways department are less confident.

An underpass would be extremely costly, they say.

It would mean rebuilding about half a mile of highway because of the intersection and also "jacking" it up about seven feet.

A rough estimate of the cost: $30,000.

An overpass would be more reasonable in cost—between $12,000 and $15,000 for an aluminum one with steps.

However this would mean no bicycles (Alan was riding one when killed). To handle bikes the overpass would have to be an elaborate and costly ramp type.

Highways officials said there are few spots in B.C. with either over or underpasses.

Newest overpass (the aluminum type) is near the Oak Street Bridge in Vancouver where 15,000 cars a day roar along a four-lane highway.

Official traffic counts have been made at the Mount Benson school site and indicated insufficient traffic to warrant an over pass.

The parents themselves Thursday counted 2,500 cars in nine hours on the two-lane highway.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson Thursday asked his deputy, Dr. J. F. K. English, to make an inquiry into possibility of truancy action during the school boycott.

Today, Dr. English said this did not seem "very important."

"There will not be any issue made in this, under the circumstances, unless the children are away from school a very long time," he said.

He said he believed they would all be back at school early next week.

$5,000 Loss as Fire Destroys Calves, Hay

Twenty-five calves were burned to death and 35 tons of hay went up in smoke in a barn fire Thursday on remote Stewart Road, off Thetis Lake Road.

The 70-year-old barn belonging to Edward Harvey, 2696 Sooke Road, was destroyed. It was partly insured.

But the fire was a stunning loss to Duncan Cameron of RR6, Thetis Lake. He had been running the cattle on Mr. Harvey's land.

He did not have either the cattle or the hay insured. The calves were almost ready to butcher for veal.

An estimated total loss could be as high as $5,000.

Langford volunteer fire brigade tried to get a 2,000-gallon tanker to the scene but had to turn back. Firemen feared the bridges would not carry the weight of the vehicle.

View Royal volunteer fire brigade managed to get a 500-gallon tanker to the fire along a rough road. Firemen were unable to save the barn but kept the blaze from spreading to other buildings.

The animals were dead even before the fire alarm was given. One of the first men on the scene, Harold Bukin of Munn Road, found the cattle dead when he arrived.

The fire was spotted about 3:30 in the afternoon, shortly after a truck delivered sawdust to the property.

Mrs. Bukin, a daughter of Mr. Cameron, called the firemen. The property was outside fire protection boundaries.

Guilty Plea On 3 Charges

David D. Frankham, 3981 Borden, pleaded guilty in Saanich and Central Saanich courts Thursday to three charges of breaking and entering.

In Central Saanich court he appeared on a charge of breaking into Butler Bros. Supply Ltd., Keating Cross Road, last Thursday, when a number of explosives and blasting caps were stolen.

In Saanich court he was charged with breaking at Lo-Hi Market, 4142 Wilkinson, Dec. 22, and at Safeway Stores Ltd. in the Town and Country Shopping Plaza Sunday.

A safe containing $600 was stolen from the Wilkinson Road premises. Nothing was taken from the Safeway store although an attempt had been made to get into the safe.

SECOND CHARGED

Another youth is charged along with Frankham with all three break-ins.

Larry A. Preston, 33 Regina, elected trial by judge and jury and reserved his plea.

Both youths were remanded to next Thursday, Frankham for probation report and sentence, and Preston for preliminary hearing.

Preston was allowed bail of $2,000 on both Saanich charges.

Funeral Rites on Saturday For Pioneer's Descendant

Funeral services will be held in Hayward's chapel Saturday at 3:30 p.m. for Mrs. Katherine Elma Castle, descendant of a pioneer Victoria family, who died in St. Joseph's Hospital Thursday.

Interment will follow at St. Stephen's Church, Mount Newton, with which the family was associated for many years. The minister, Rev. O. L. Foster, will officiate.

Mrs. Castle lived at 582 St. Charles, Oak Bay, and was the widow of the late Raymond F. Castle. He built the Oak Bay Theatre block in 1939 and operated the theatre for several years.

Her father was Dr. Roderick Fraser, one of Victoria's early medical doctors, who fought a serious epidemic of smallpox in the city in 1892.

Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Thomson, were pioneer residents of Victoria. They came here from Scotland and lived for many years at Bannockburn, Mount Newton Crossroad.

Mrs. Castle is survived by two daughters, Miss Hilary Castle of Victoria, and Mrs. W. S. Thackray of Vancouver; her brother, Dr. W. Allan Fraser of Victoria, and two grandchildren, Andrew and Christopher, in Vancouver.

Youth Admits Entry, Theft At City House

An 18-year-old youth pleaded guilty in city police court today to breaking and entering and theft Wednesday night from a Coventry Street address.

Police arrested Philip Holland, 1920 Bowker, and a juvenile after a pair of gloves, two butcher knives, a flashlight, and about $9 in U.S. currency were stolen from the house of James Adam, 1331 Coventry.

The basement door had been forced open.

Holland was remanded to Jan. 18 for probation report and sentence.

Sub Hunt 'Games' Planned Off Island

A joint United States-Canadian anti-submarine exercise, involving surface and air sub-fighters, will be announced shortly by the U.S. and Canadian navies.

Announcement awaits final clearance by the U.S.

The exercise, first major "sub hunt" of 1963, will take place during the last week of January and the first two days of February.

It is expected Esquimalt-based navy ships will be joined by RCAF maritime patrol aircraft from Comox and U.S. Navy planes from Whidbey Island, and that the RCN's fleet maintenance ship HMCS Cape Breton will also take part.

Area of the simulated submarine attack on the Pacific Northwest will be well out to sea, off the West Coast of Vancouver Island and the approaches to Juan de Fuca Strait.

CITY HOPEFUL ON SURPLUS

City Hall is hoping for a hefty surplus from its 1962 budget.

Mayor R. B. Wilson Thursday asked if there would be any surplus and how much it might be, during a committee meeting.

Comptroller-treasurer James Bramley said the final figure was not known yet but he guessed it would be about the same "if not more" than last year, when the carry-over totalled about $100,000.

ASK The TIMES

Q. What is the origin of the expression "spic and span?"—R.D.

A. "Spic" is short for "spike" and "span" originally meant a chip. So a "spic and span" ship—as the term was originally used—meant a ship in which all the hardware and boards were brand new.

Q. Does the sun rotate on its axis?—D.F.

A. Yes, once in about every 26 days.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily.

You Need More Inside Fuel When It's Shivery Outside

By PENNY SAVER

Is your fuel consumption adequate? I mean the body fuel you need to combat the Arctic air that has decided to blow out to sea via Victoria. This unusual (when isn't it unusual?) weather in Victoria calls for internal and external reinforcements.

Can you think of anything that smells better on a cold day than a pot of hot soup? And with the price of meat going ever upward a soup bone may soon be all the budget will allow.

If soup seems like a lot of work why don't you try some of the special dried vegetable soup mix I saw today? It is made of peppers, celery, carrots and parsley. Sold in bulk, it costs 25 cents for two ounces. All you need is one or two tablespoons for a large pot.

To make sure you are getting all the minerals and vitamins you need, you might try some bread that is made from sprouted wheat.

This bread, which sells for 30 cents a loaf, is made of sprouted wheat, yeast, sea salt, malt, dulce, kelp, sesame seed, unsulphured molasses, lecithin and water. The finished product looks like a regular loaf of bread and not a sea urchin.

The sprouted wheat, which is wheat kernels that have been allowed to sprout, is ground and used instead of flour. Just think how strong you will feel eating all that iron in the dulce and kelp. And not to be forgotten is your cholesterol, lecithin, an unsaturated fat used instead of shortening.

Lecithin is also made up in a spread that can be used instead of butter. A 12-ounce carton costs 58 cents which is very cheap when you see the volume of 12 ounces.

This same store also sells its own peanut butter spreads at 65 cents a jar. Some have added sunflower and sesame oil.

How about some new honey flavors—sage, aquinaldo, avocado and eucalyptus are some you might like to try. A two-pound jar sells for $1.08.

If you are short on minerals phone Penny at 382-3131.

THE BETTER HALF By Bob Barnes

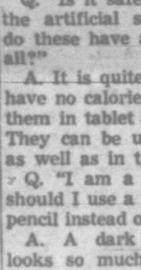
WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Reader Thinks Women Stay Prettier Longer If Heavier

(The Question Box)

Q. "Don't you think that women are really prettier and stay young looking longer if they weigh a little more when they are older than when very young?"



Lowman

A. As far as health is concerned, your ideal weight at the age of 25 is your ideal weight for the rest of your life. However, I must admit that I think a woman has more "bloom" and looks younger longer with a little more weight. By that I mean not more than five pounds. This makes her look younger in the face and does not damage her figure if she still has her 25-year-old ideal weight to begin with.

Q. "I sure hope you can help me. I am 15-year-old and weigh 122 pounds. I am 5 feet 1½ inches tall, and have a small frame. My bust measures 34½ inches, waist 26 inches and hips 36 inches. How should I improve, and where?"

A. Your measurements are in good proportion but you are overweight. If you really have a small frame, you should lose about 20 pounds. If you have a medium frame, you should lose about 10.

Be sure to diet in a sensible way. Eat a well balanced diet but cut out nonessentials and do not take second helpings. If any of your teen-agers would like to have my leaflet, "Popularity," which was written especially for you, send a five-cent, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for leaflet No. 58 to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Q. "Is it safe to use one of the artificial sweeteners and do these have any calories at all?"

A. It is quite safe and they have no calories. You can get them in tablet or liquid form. They can be used in cooking as well as in tea and coffee.

Q. "I am a brunette. Why should I use a brown eyebrow pencil instead of a black one?"

A. A dark brown pencil looks so much more natural than a black one, even on a brunette. The black is harsh. If you wish you can use both a black and brown pencil and then blend with a little brush or a piece of cotton.

Q. "I am 32-years-old, 5 feet 6 inches tall and weigh 126 pounds. I have started bicycling early mornings to fill out my legs. How long will it take? How long should I ride each day for the fastest results?"

A. In order to fill out your legs you will have to build muscle. This takes a while. I think you will see results in about two months. Don't knock yourself out! Just ride the length of time which seems refreshing and not tiring to you.

DEAR ABBY . . .

You Have the Best Spot

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am 13 and my problem has to do with my mother. I have an older sister and a younger brother. My mother favors my sister because she's the oldest, and she favors my brother because he is the youngest. That leaves me in the middle. I have really tried hard to be nice to my mother but it never turns out right. We just don't seem to get along. What can I do?

MIDDLE CHILD.

DEAR MIDDLE CHILD: No matter what position you play in the family game, you see only the drawbacks. The oldest complains that when a fight occurs, it's her fault because she should have known better. The youngest complains because he has to go to bed earlier and can't do what the older kids can do. Frankly, I think you've got the best spot. Just try harder.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My husband flipped his lid because I was up ironing at 2 o'clock in the morning. I like to do my work at night when the children are not under foot and as long as it gets done I don't see why he should care when I do it. He said if I didn't watch TV all day I'd get my work done in the daytime. So now he takes a tube out of the set before he goes to work. Abby, I have eight children under 12 and no help, and watching TV during the day (and I don't watch "all day") is my only relaxation. Do you think he's being fair?

PUNISHED.

DEAR PUNISHED: Your husband is behaving like a tyrant. With eight children under 12 and no help, any relaxation you can grab during the day is well earned. Tell him to take care of HIS job and you'll take care of yours

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I work out because I have to support myself and my little pre-school daughter. I have a friend who offered to look after my child in her home during my working hours, which are noon until six. Nothing was said about money because she offered, saying it was no trouble and that my little girl would be good company for her little boy who's the same age. I later heard that she told someone that I was cheap because I never offered to pay her. I thought friends did things for nothing.

STRANGE FRIENDSHIP.

DEAR STRANGE: Friends do. But apparently you put a strain on your friendship by routinely leaving your child with her every day. If she complained behind your back, take the hint and either offer her money or make other arrangements for your child.

TODAY'S RECIPE

PRUNE WHIP

Three egg whites, ⅔ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon water, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 cup finely chopped plumped prunes, custard sauce.

Place in top of double boiler egg whites, sugar, lemon rind, lemon juice, water and salt. Serve with custard sauce or whipped cream Makes six-eight servings.

To plump prunes, soak overnight in cold water—one quart water to one pound prunes.

CUSTARD SAUCE

Of Personal Interest

Golden Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Wiilliam R. Gibbs of Savannah Avenue, were recently entertained by their family at a dinner party in the private dining room of the Dominion Hotel on the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary. Guests of honor were presented with a television set. Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs were married on December 21, 1912, in Christ Church at Cranbrook, B.C., and came to Victoria in 1925. Bookbinding a Chance to 'Create'

MONTREAL (CP) — Slim, active Mrs. Karl Stern of Montreal says that if you know one trade well you have the discipline to pick up others more quickly.

Mrs. Stern should know.

She's a bookbinder—engaged full time restoring old books—a teacher, author, painter, therapist and weaver.

Her first love is bookbinding. She calls it "the restoration and preservation of cultural records," an opportunity to "create."

"Sometimes it takes days or weeks before I start a job," she says. "It takes that long to get acquainted with the problem."

At Stratford, Ont., she has on display an illustration showing the stages of repairing a book. It accompanies S. T. Fisher's private collection of rare Shakespeare editions.

Mrs. Stern studied bookbinding in Munich as a young girl, serving an apprentice for four years before attending art schools and work shops to get her master's diploma.

She gave up her trade after marriage to tend three small children, returning to it professionally five years ago.

PAINSTAKING WORK

She finds binding a time-consuming task. Each page takes a half day. One collection of papers on which she's working dates back to the 15th century.

Mrs. Stern holds classes for pupils interested in bookbinding as a hobby. All are women, many interested because their husbands are book collectors.

Often, says Mrs. Stern, a woman will come to her hoping to be taught leather binding with a scroll decoration. She usually tells them: "If you want to learn sewing, you can't start with an evening gown."

Mrs. Stern's interest in bookbinding was aroused when as a child of 11 she wrote children's stories and illustrated them. But she ran into trouble putting the pages together. Her mother suggested she go to a bookbinder for help.

Mrs. Stern and her husband, a psychiatrist, lived in London for six years before coming to Canada 23 years ago.

When her family was small, she taught painting, weaving and handicrafts in schools. Recently, she worked as a therapist teaching calligraphy to mental patients in an Ottawa hospital.

Mrs. Karl Stern, probably the only woman in Canada devoting her full time to restoring old books, works in her Montreal shop. (CP Photo.)

By NONA DAMASKE

NEW YORK—Designers are being so good to women . . . clothes for the coming season are purely feminine. The silhouette remains slender for the most part. There is no tightness, just a gentle touching of fabric to the body.

A new word keeps slipping into the fashion jargon, "skift," a combination of shift, shirt and skirt.

The waistline, still a wanderer, sometimes high and Empire looking, sometimes naturally placed and marked with drawstring belts, sometimes slung low in back with a belt swinging carelessly and, as in the skift, sometimes non-existent.

Do not be led into thinking the look of the skift is that of the sack. It isn't. The skift has shaping but is not fitted.

Samuel Winston showed a fairly even distribution of normal and high-pitched waistlines, but unlike other collections seen so far, he practically ignored the sleeveless look.

This house is world famous for beaded and embroided late-day fashions, and the last sequence of this collection was a glittering parade of floor-length gowns, shimmering with bugle beads, crystal drops, coral clusters, turquoise beads, sequins and pallettes.

When a firm takes unto itself one product, and successfully stays with it over the years, it is bound to be the best in its field. Originala makes coats, and coats only . . . they do not stray even to make a matching skirt or hat. Just coats. They are beautiful.

LIGHT AS BREATH

The term "breath-through fabric" tells the story of many of these spring and summer coats. Light, airy, porous and light as a breath.

The stole and scarf look was used extensively. Pure femininity was expressed in long, printed chiffon scarves which were attached to the coats and floated out behind like gossamer wings.

It is no longer de rigeur to tuck your scarf inside your collar . . . scarves are slender, long and are worn outside suits and coats.

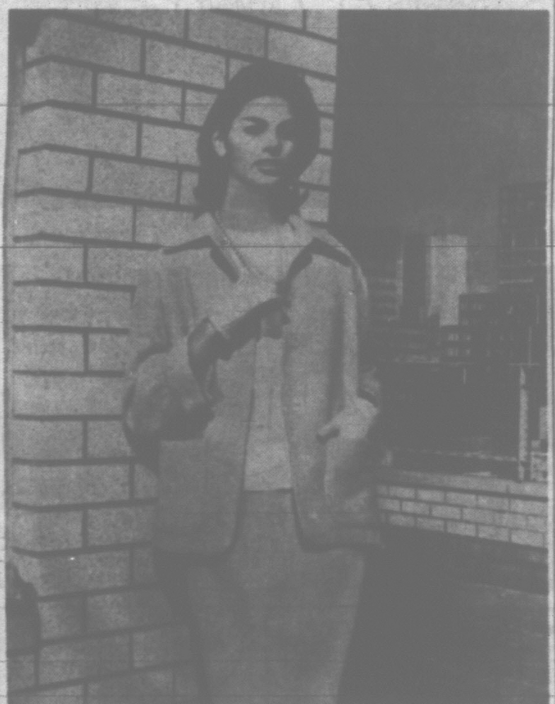
Sidelights—I've been undermined by the State of Hawaii. The lovely fashion editor, Helen De Haven of the Honolulu Star Bulletin, journeys more miles to attend the New York Couture Group Press Week than I do. Each day we look forward to seeing the fresh flower lei she wears. They are sent to her from the islands.

SEWING EXPERT

Mrs. Eunice Farmer, creator of the Sew Simple column which appears in The Times, is among the fashion writers attending Press Week.

She says that sewing is good therapy. It helps you relax and is good for the morale, as it keeps you more aware of your figure. A knowledge of sewing is helpful, even if you buy all your clothes, she says.

This vivacious mother of four appears each morning in a stunning costume which we now know, without asking, she has made herself.



Pink wool tweed walking suit with a long shirt-like jacket—designed for spring, 1963. The jacket, showing an ivory crepe overblouse, has deep patch pockets and cuffed sleeves. (Photograph, New York Couture Group.)

WEARABLE, WALKABLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The fashion industry has brought back the walking suit.

A good thing, too, the more than 200 fashion writers here for the New York couture group's semi-annual week of style previews, agree.

With the stress on achieving a long, lean look in order to be chic this spring, the average woman needs more mobility.

Two more design houses, Ben Reig and Arthur Jablow, tackled the problem Thursday of getting around on one's own shoe leather by making nearly everything wearable, walkable.

Total year's receipts were reported as $10,388.40 by Mrs. C. Day, treasurer. Expenditures included $100 bursary to graduating nurse with the highest marks and assistance with the student nurses' year book.

Mrs. P. W. Semenchuk, retiring president, announced that money-raising activities included a bridge tea, garden party, home-baking sale and tea held in home of Mrs. Hayward. Highlight was recent bazaar which netted $6,900.

"Success of bazaar," said Mrs. Semenchuk, "was helped by many work bees held in Mrs. Atkinson's home."

She also extended thanks to Sister Mary Malarchy for her assistance with refreshments at all functions.

Secretary Mrs. B. G. Ryan, reported that 60 Easter baskets had been donated to the children's ward and $25 to the hospital's library.

Refreshments were served under the convenership of Sister Mary Malarchy and Mrs. F. Sedgwick.

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.
Andy will answer questions submitted by ... readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.
The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second ques-

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Donna Namiotho, age 12, of Philadelphia, Pa., for her question:

What was the Archeozoic Era like?

Geologists have divided the age-old diary of the earth into chapters called eras. The story began some four billion years ago, and four eras have been completed. The fifth, called the Cenozoic Era, began a mere 60 million years ago, and we are still living in it.

The Archeozoic Era takes us back, way back to the beginning of the history of our planet. The experts try to figure out what it was like from the rocks that were formed in those ancient days. But for more than 500 million years, newer and newer rocks have been forming on top of the archeozoic layers. In some places we have to dig a mile or more to reach them. But in other places, nature has made the expert's job easier.

Here and there the earth's crust humps to form a ridge of mountains, and sometimes the strain causes a deep crack. If the pushing continues, a massive block of rocky layers may be shoved out of place and slide over the other side of the crack. This brings to the surface the minerals that are buried deep below our feet, and here we are likely to find evidence of what the world was like in archeozoic times.

The word archeozoic means early-beginning-of-life, and the rocks indicate that simple forms of life did exist in the Archeozoic Era. There are no true fossils, for the living things were too small to leave behind bones and durable remains. But certain limestones and graphites date back to archeozoic times; and, as a rule, these minerals are formed from the remains of plants and animals.

The Archeozoic Era began more than two billion years ago and lasted some 650 million years. Life did not appear on the land until millions of years later. The land was barren. A range of mountains grew, no one knows how high, but they have since been worn down to their roots. They are the Laurentians of eastern Canada, oldest mountains in the world. In some places there were fiery volcanoes, and the remains of their lava has been found in sedimentary rocks formed in this ancient era.

Rocks Crushed by Heavy Layers

Our world must have been a dull place indeed, but life was just beginning to stir in the fresh-water seas. There were tiny shell-building sea dwellers, perhaps somewhat like the little fellows that formed limestones in later eras. There were miniature water plants, perhaps somewhat like the single-celled algae that still swarm in our seas.

The rocks formed in archeozoic times have been crushed under the pressure of the massive layers above them. Their muddy shales have long since been turned into hard slates, and much of their limestone has become waxy marble. We call these metamorphic rocks, because they have been metamorphized or altered from their original states.

Andy sends a Hammond's Library World Atlas to Kathleen Nelligan, age 13, of Louisville, Ky., for her question:

How often do salmon migrate?

The pink salmon of the Pacific Ocean always migrates back to its breeding ground when it is two years old. But other species of salmon are not so definite. Some of the Atlantic salmon travel 1,500 miles from land and do not migrate until they are five years old. Others of the same species migrate after one, two or three years.

The rich sockeye salmon of the Pacific is also indefinite about the time it returns to its breeding grounds. Most of them return after four or five years of ocean life. Some return after three years, and some of the whopping six-pounders have been in the ocean for eight years.

IT HAPPENED LAST NIGHT

By EARL WILSON

NEW YORK — "The only place that has any more strikes than New York," somebody said, "is a bowling alley". . . . Ayway, Mary Martin and her husband Dick Halliday, have been scheduled to depart for Brazil on a Swedish freighter since Dec. 28. They're waiting for the dock strike to end, but, says Mary, "we can't find out much about it—due to the newspaper strike."

Sammy Davis and May Britt —who have a small dtr. of their own and an adopted son —will adopt a little girl in the fall, Sammy revealed to me at the Copacabana. "We want to have three of our own and to adopt three," Sammy said. "We feel that people who can afford to do it should adopt several." Their adopted son, Mark 2, saw Sammy's show at the Copa the other dinnertime —Proprietor Jules Podell having made the show earlier so Mark could watch it before falling off to sleep.

The revival of "Telstar" by New Jersey scientists has also brought back George DeWitt's line about it. George asked an expert, "Can that little satellite really cost $18,000,000?" The "expert" allegedly answered: "No, the satellite only cost 15c . . . all the rest of the money was spent for the extension cord."

Producer David Merrick refused to give "Oliver" first night tickets to David Susskind to review the show for station WINS. The station bought preview tickets for Susskind who prepared a review anyway. Learning of it, Merrick charged it was "unprofessional." The station argued that it had asked for regular first-night tickets. "But Susskind's my mortal enemy," Merrick said . . . "His review's a rave!" replied a station representative . . . "He's my dearest friend!" replied Merrick . . . Which isn't quite true, either, because Susskind said, "This show is so good that the shabby producer will not have to resort to low ballyhoo and fake tricks to put it over." He added that the show "needed no boost from his (Merrick's) bottomless bag of fakery and boorishness."

Dick Powell had hoped—before he died—to say a public "thank you" to the many, many people who had written or telegraphed him to encourage him in his fight against cancer.

Almost in tears, Joe Wolhandler, his N.Y. press representative, told about it.

"Dick told me in California just a few weeks ago 'I'll get away from the doctor for a couple of days, and come to New York and we'll work out something.' He had wanted to thank all of them and encourage them in winning any battles they were having.

"He never got to do it, so why don't you do it?" Wolhandler said.

Powell discovered his illness in N.Y. when buying a shirt. He wore a size 16 but suddenly found that a 17 wasn't large enough. Doctors first believed his puffiness was an allergy which Powell himself had attributed to eating some Roquefort cheese.

Dick Powell was one of the finest men anybody ever met—not just in show business—in any business.

TODAY'S BEST LAUGH: After reading that Jos. Kennedy has either $400,000,000 or $600,000,000, Nipsy Russell says at Basin St. East, "He's so rich, he can write a cheque and make the bank bounce."

WISH I'D SAID THAT: The Times of London has an ad for "My Fair Lady" which urgently nudges ticket buyers: "Last two years . . ."

EARL'S PEARLS: A good way to get away from it all nowadays, opines Herb Stein, is to visit any Hollywood movie studio.

Despite the expense account crackdown, one big spender is still spending money like it was water. Showgirl Taffy Tuttle explained, "That's right . . . a drop at a time" . . . That's earl, brother.

Province, Ottawa To Pay 'Extras' On Bridge Job

The B.C. and federal governments have agreed to pay a tribunal's $1,700,000 award for "extras" on a Port Mann bridge contract, Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi said Thursday.

Perini Pacific Ltd. had claimed an extra $5,000,000 on a $7.2 million contract for foundations.

Mr. Gaglardi turned the matter over to an independent tribunal a year ago.

The tribunal, headed by retired Supreme Court Judge James Coady, turned in its report this summer.

No details were released while B.C. and Ottawa negotiated.

Ottawa approval of paying the claim was required because the new Port Mann bridge is part of the Trans-Canada Highway.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD JACOBY

Bobby Jordan and Arthur Robinson of Philadelphia, who finished second in the Phoenix trials, have only been playing as partners for a few years. In fact, Arthur, who is just 26, hasn't been playing bridge very long, but he sure has started out fast. Of course, he had good instruction at home, as both his parents are life masters.

Opening lead—♥ 9

Arthur likes to tell about his first duplicate with his mother.

He had learned the point count and a little about Blackwood. His five heart bid showed his two aces; his six heart bid showed his two kings and his seven diamond bid was intended to show his one queen.

Mrs. Robinson did not know this new Blackwood variation and passed with the idea that Arthur had a long diamond suit.

Arthur might not have known much about bidding, but even as a beginner the play of the cards was easy for him. He decided that West's nine of hearts opening was a doubleton. In that case he could only count 12 tricks, but Arthur found his 13th by means of an unusual trump play.

He won the opening heart lead; cashed the king and ace of spades and ruffed a third spade high. He returned to his hand with the king of clubs and ruffed his last spade with another high trump.

He then ran off three rounds of trumps, discarding dummy's fourth heart on his third trump. Since trumps broke three-three Arthur had his 13th trick and the first top score of what will undoubtedly be a long series of triumphs.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

One of the better hour-long dramatic offerings on television this season has been "The Dick Powell Show."

Since Dick Powell's death earlier this month, the fate of the show is up in the air as far as next season is concerned.

Stephen

The series title has been changed to "Dick Powell Theatre" and guest stars are hosting the show.

Tuesday night, Gregory Peck was the first host and his introductory approach was in keeping with the qualities of the producer-star who founded the anthology.

Peck, appearing without introduction, limited his remarks to "I'm speaking for a man who was a great and good friend of our industry." He added that it was a privilege for the guest hosts to carry on with the show as a "memorial to Dick Powell." The show then started in straightforward fashion.

If excessive theatrics are avoided by future hosts like Robert Mitchum, Frank Sinatra and Glenn Ford, the series should continue to command respect and audience.

Channel Chit Chat:

Viewers, apparently tired of Lloyd Bridges imagining himself taking part in all kinds of adventures in the Lloyd Bridges Show have forced a format change. The 30-minute series will become an anthology series Jan. 22, like last year's GE Theatre with Bridges as host and star.

Perry Como, in an attempt to boost his ratings, will break up the Music Hall players.

Hawaiin Eye may be closed by ABC this spring. A replacement has not been decided upon.

George Gobel will stage a variety show on Jan. 31 as an Alcoa Premiere presentation. This will be the pilot of a series which may see Gobel return to TV next season.

A new hour-long Civil War series is planned for next fall by CBS, to be scheduled in early evening time so that children can watch. It will also mean Canadian children in cities receiving CBS channels will learn more about American history.

It's about time Canadian television producers took a note from the American TV book.

We boast a rich and colorful history, and we have writers of the stature of Lister Sinclair and Len Peterson who could do justice to a well-documented series.

$700 MILLION FOR 4 SUBS

WASHINGTON (AP)—A member of the British Parliament said Thursday Britain plans to build four submarines capable of firing Polaris missiles. He estimated their cost at about $700,000,000.

Julian Critchley, a Conservative MP, said the cost will work out roughly the same as what Britain would have had to spend to mount the now-discarded Skybolt missile on its Vulcan bombers.

Pay Boost Asked For Shorter Week

Higher salaries, a shorter work week, longer holidays for less service and other changes are requested by Oak Bay firemen for their 1963 contract with the municipality.

Their submission to council was turned over to personnel committee this week before a meeting with council representatives.

Firemen, who are members of Greater Victoria Fire Fighters' Local 730, ask for an upward revision of wages to provide a $10 monthly differential with city firemen.

The 1962 rates range from $364 for fourth class firemen to $405 for first class men in Oak Bay.

They want a six-hour reduction in working time to 42 hours and compulsory group life insurance.

The request includes a bid for three weeks holiday after five years' service, and four weeks after 15 years, instead of two weeks after one year and up to eight years, three weeks after eight and four weeks after 20 years.

Only other major change requested is for service pay at 50 cents a day after 20 years' service for employees who have not reached officer rank, decreasing to 10 cents a day with promotion to officer rank.

Service pay is now paid at 10 cents a day for each five years of service.

Firemen ask that the settlement be retroactive to Jan. 1 of this year.

Electronics Change Surveying Methods

By NORMAN CRIBBENS

Land surveying is still an attractive career for a man but every year the qualifications are getting tougher with the development of electronic measuring devices.

So say most of the 100 surveyors attending the 58th annual meeting of the Corporation of Land Surveyors of British Columbia, which opened in the Empress Hotel Thursday.

"Surveyors across Canada have to keep pace with rapid advancement in the electronic and photogrammetric fields," said D. H. Burnett of New Westminster, who is past-president of the corporation.

Before long it will be necessary for all surveyors to take university training in the opinion of Bryan Berting, most northerly delegate, who flew here from Fort St. John.

GREAT CHANGE

"We have entered a period of great change in techniques and outlook," said John G. Pierce, president of the Ontario Land Surveyors, a guest of the B.C. corporation with L. P. Gale of the Canadian Institute of Surveying, Ottawa.

Mr. Berting said would-be surveyors are now encouraged to take a four-year civil engineering course at university after which they have to serve one year with a surveyor before obtaining a commission.

"But there are still many first-rate surveyors who never attended university," he added. "They trained the old fashioned way—by apprenticeship and experience."

150 WELLS

From Fort St. John, Mr. Berting surveys oil and gas wells over a 200-mile area. At present, he says, there are some 150 wells within a 50-mile radius of Fort St. John.

"The town is growing fast and we are desperately in need of dentists and doctors. At present we have to wait at least three months for a dental appointment."

Another distant delegate to the meeting is Wilfred Humphreys of Winnipeg, who graduated as surveyor in Victoria 33 years ago and later became chief surveyor for Canadian Pacific Railway's western region.

He is a qualified surveyor in all four western provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and B.C.

Two Private Citizens On Committee

Two categories are added to the standing Oak Bay council committees for 1963 to make a total of nine, including two select citizens who are not members of council.

Reeve George Murdoch names former reeve Fred Norris and architect R. W. Siddall to the largest committee — planning and zoning — of which Coun. John Watts is chairman and councillors Walter Dodsworth and Alex Hendry are the other members.

The committee takes the place of the former special committee on zoning and planning development and the standing committee on lands and buildings.

The other new standing committee is civil defence, formerly a special committee, and is headed by Coun. William Wade, with councillors Hendry and Fred Robinson.

The only other change in standing committees is a return to the former division between works and parks, which were dealt with together in 1962.

Coun. Robinson remains chairman of works, with councillors Wade and Allan Cox, while Coun. Wade is now chairman of parks, assisted by councillors Cox and Robinson.

Other standing committees are:

Personnel—Cox (chairman), Dodsworth, Robinson;
Fire—Dodsworth, Hendry;
Marina—Wade, Cox, Watts;
Traffic and transportation — Hendry, Dodsworth, Watts.

CUBAN VISIT 'MY BUSINESS'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A provincial member of the legislature, now touring Cuba as a guest of Fidel Castro, told his New Democratic Party today to mind its own business.

Speaking in a telephone interview from Havana, Cedric Cox, MLA for suburban Burnaby, said: "It is none of their business what I do in my own time."

Substantial Tax Cuts Proposed by Business

Deficit Budget Sought

OTTAWA (CP) — Substantial cuts in income taxes and another federal budget deficit next fiscal year were advocated today by the executive council of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

In a prebudget brief presented to Finance Minister Nowlan and Revenue Minister Fleming, the council said a deficit for the fiscal year starting April 1 is "appropriate for the current economic situation."

But it should be lower than the $570,000,000 deficit forecast for the current year.

The proposal ran counter to the policy declaration at the Canadian Chamber's annual meeting last September which called for "immediate steps" to balance the budget after six consecutive years of deficits.

Today's brief said there should be a "substantial reduction" in both corporate and personal income taxes to stimulate growth of production and employment.

REDUCE SPENDING

Government spending should be reduced, with implementation of money-saving recommendations of the Glassco royal commission on governernment operations "to the maximum practicable extent . . . as rapidly as possible."

The brief added that the government should finance the deficit by borrowing in the capital market "without relying on an increase in the money supply from central bank operations."

The brief, presented by a delegation headed by George P. Keeping of Montreal, chairman of the chamber's executive council, echoed the tax-cut request made Wednesday by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

The Chamber of Commerce said a "controlled" and reduced deficit, with tax cuts partly offset by reduced expenditures, "would enhance rather than impair confidence."

On government spending, it said costs of social welfare programs have reached "the fiscally feasible limits." But there was room for added outlays for social capital — new schools and other community services.

The brief welcomed the appointment of the royal commission on taxation, and suggested a close study of the merits of shifting the emphasis from income taxes to sales taxes as a means of encouraging industrial expansion.

It warned of possible "returning sluggishness" in the economy and urged adoption of "more stimulating policies."

The Road Ahead

A Special Times Series

By BRUCE HUTCHISON
Editor of The Times

Among the Western industrial nations none is so penetrated by foreign capital as Canada.

Foreigners own most of our manufacturing industry.

They control a large part of such basic resources as oil, timber and minerals.

They intend, quite legally and with the vendors' full consent, to buy up more of the Canadian people's estate.

Where will this process end? At the rate of the last dozen years it could end either in a foreign-owned economic system, an appendage of the United States, or even in a general demand for the nationalization of major Canadian industries, as has happened in many other underdeveloped countries. If economic sovereignty is lost political sovereignty will follow.

These things need not happen if Canadians will take a hard, unprejudiced look at foreign investment, as they have not done yet, and base their national policies on facts instead of passions.

Lack Own Capital

The first fact revealed by such a look is that without huge foreign investment Canada would still be the poor, primitive country of our grandfathers' time. From the days of the French fur traders through the days of the railway builders and the modern industrial revolution, Canada's growth has been nourished mainly by outside capital because Canadians lacked enough of their own.

The second fact is that while foreign borrowings enabled Canada to grow at a rate impossible without them, much of the money thus secured was used for the wrong or, at any rate, the least economic purposes. We cannot afford that luxury any longer.

Pays for Imports

To take a simple illustration, a Canadian mine created by American capital enriches this nation, employs its people and, by exporting its products, pays for essential imports. On the other hand, money borrowed from foreigners by a provincial or municipal government to build, say, a school may be money well spent from a social point of view. From an economic point of view it creates no means of repaying the loan, no new saleable goods, no financial nourishment for Canadian business and employment.

Or if we borrow foreign money to buy consumer goods, as we have done on a large scale, then of course we incur a long-term liability without any long-term asset of any kind, economic or social. We are merely living on debt.

The first step in any national policy aimed at economic growth and the reduction of our crushing trade deficit is thus perfectly clear. We must stop borrowing foreign money for the wrong purposes.

Having stopped borrowing it

MYSTERY MAN

Roman Catholic Archbishop of Boston, Richard Cardinal Cushing, has disclosed that he raised $1,000,000 to help liberate Cuban invasion prisoners. In Washington it was stated that the cardinal pledged the huge sum as the result of a telephone call from U.S. Attorney-General Robert Kennedy. (See story Page 11)

UN Troops Converge On Kolwezi

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—United Nations troops today drove to within 70 miles of the key Katangan mining town of Kolwezi after central Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula warned President Moise Tshombe of Katanga he personally would be held responsible for any sabotage of Kolwezi.

In a radio broadcast Thursday night, Adoula said if the vital mining installations of Kolwezi were destroyed or damaged "the government will hold Mr. Tshombe responsible and will take the most severe measures in conformity with Congolese law."

Tshombe returned to Elisabethville, his Katangan capital, Thursday night after leading a bloodless UN advance to Mokambo, a communications town on the Rhodesian border 110 miles from Elisabethville.

A UN spokesman said a UN Indian platoon had reached Kakanda on the Dikuwe River 45 miles west of Jadotville and was looking for a place to ford the river.

More Indian troops reached the mining railhead at Shangolowe, west of Jadotville, without meeting any Katangan opposition.

Meanwhile, Tshombe was reported bitterly at odds with some of his followers over future co-operation with the UN.

Sources close to Tshombe said the most serious rift was with Interior Minister Godefroid Munongo, the most violently anti-UN member of the Katanga cabinet.

Tshombe went to the border town of Mokambo Thursday in a bid to talk his followers into returning here to get the Katangese government functioning again now that the UN has used force to reintegrate the Congo.

But he failed to convince Munongo, who crossed into northern Rhodesia in a huff. Munongo was reported later to have gone on to Kolwezi.

CUT BARRIERS, JAPAN ASKS CANADIANS

TOKYO (UPI)—Japan called on Canada today to reduce trade barriers as representatives of both nations exchanged heated debate at the opening meeting of an oft-delayed ministerial conference.

Japanese Finance Minister Kakuei Tanaka urged the Canadians to release Japan from its voluntary export quotas and to reduce trade barriers, such as import surcharges, that Canada has erected to protect its home industries.

Canadian Minister of Justice Donald M. Fleming, who led his country's delegation, said that his government would eliminate the temporary surcharges as soon as they are no longer necessary.

Riding on tail of 45-foot sea monster

THREE-HOUR FROLIC

IT WAS AWESOME

Skindivers Have 'Whale' of a Time

LA JOLLA, Calif. — Four San Diego, Calif., amateur photographers had a whale of a time Thursday—with a whale.

The four frolicked in the ocean for three hours with their new-found friend, photographing it close up, riding on its back and even showering under its spout.

"It was a one-in-a-million experience that every photographer dreams about," said Charles Nicklin, Jr., 35, operator of a local diving shop.

He said the 45-foot finback whale was crippled and exhausted because it had been entangled in a nylon line which they were able to release.

Nicklin said he, Alving Santmyer, 35, a diving shop operator; William DeCourt, 24, a design draftsman, and Frank Morejohn, 32, an architectural illustrator, first sighted a whale spout about 1½ miles offshore.

"We thought at first it was sleeping because it lay so still on the surface," Nicklin said. "When we got up close we were so excited we kept dropping film all over the boat.

"As it made no indication of taking off, we suited up and took underwater pictures of it. The line had cut into the whale's hide and he was apparently so exhausted from struggling, he couldn't submerge. He just wallowed there, rocking back and forth."

"He was really big," DeCourt volunteered.

"After shooting pictures for awhile," Nicklin continued, "we took turns riding on its back, clowning around and posing."

"I got a shower sitting near the blowhole when it spouted," DeCourt said

"It was sort of awesome," Nicklin said, "when we thought of the size of the whale and what he might do to us. We were somewhat afraid to take the line off his tail, because we thought he might do something violent. Finally I dove down and removed the line that had crippled him.

"He waited a bit, gave a spout, waved his tail and off he swam."

"We felt a kinship for him," DeCourt said. "He didn't say thank you, but we know he appreciated what we did for him."

New Russ Overture On Test Ban Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union are privately exploring new approaches to a nuclear test ban agreement, the Washington Post says.

A new Soviet overture toward breaking the deadlock on international inspection of a test ban is understood to have been made to the United States, The Post says and adds:

"The nature and details of this move have been kept secret, and it is believed to be still in an embryonic stage. Whether it will in fact produce something tangible or end up as another false start is still unknown."

Soviet deputy foreign minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov now is in Washington talking with U.S. officials. One of the subjects he discussed with President Kennedy Wednesday was disarmament.

However, U.S. spokesmen have made a point of specifying that Kuznetsov's talks here have been "casual" and that there had been "no systematic discussion of any points."

Pearson Blast Expected On Nuclear Arms Issue

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Liberal Leader Lester Pearson is expected to renew his criticism Saturday of the government's handling of the nuclear weapons issue.

But whether he will elaborate on or bring to a firmer position his own party's policy on the question is up to now uncertain.

Liberal party spokesmen said their leader would have some important things to say about defence policy when he makes a speech Saturday at a luncheon meeting in Toronto of the York Scarboro federal Liberal nominating convention.

In his criticism of the Diefenbaker government in the past Mr. Pearson has attacked the government for seeming to have committed its new CF-104 squadrons in Europe to tactical nuclear arms, then failing to live up to the commitment.

Liberal policy has been against nuclear weapons for Canadian forces at home, but in favor of them for our forces under NATO command in Europe on the condition

Three Safe Places Ready for Skaters

There are only three "guaranteed safe" outdoor skating spots in Victoria and adjoining municipalities:

The model yacht pond on Dallas Road, which has two inches of solid ice on the concrete bottom;

The Esquimalt lacrosse box, Fraser and Lyall streets, which was flooded to two-inch depth and is frozen solid.

A small pond on the west side of Topaz Park, near the Mayfair Plaza site.

Police of all areas were emphatic in warning off would-be skaters from waters deeper than a very few inches.

Saanich reports no safe areas in deeper waters, and police are keeping a sharp eye on such waters as Swan Lake. They are prepared to keep skaters off.

Goodacre Lake in Beacon Hill Park is ruled out for skaters—portions of the water are still open.

Colwood RCMP were particularly emphatic, in view of the tragedy Thursday (see Page 13.)

"There isn't a safe skating area anywhere in this district," a spokesman said.

Freeze to Ease As Snow Lurks

Cold, but no colder, and possibly about five degrees warmer, is today's forecast for Victoria's current taste of winter.

The mercury dropped Thursday night to an official 16.9 mark at the Gonzales weather office, 15 in some parts of the city.

There is little prospect of snow in the near future, although snow is falling at Prince Rupert and the northwest coast of Vancouver Island.

"We even had a few flakes here this morning," weatherman Bill Mackie said, "although you could walk between them.

"There's a chance we might have a few flurries here."

20 TONIGHT

Mr. Mackie said there was evidence Thursday of some warmer air beginning to move into the far north from storm areas in the Pacific, bringing a slow moderating trend to this area.

Moderating temperatures will be accompanied by increased cloudiness.

Low tonight is forecast at 20, and the mercury should move above freezing Saturday. Winds will be light, mainly from the east.

Skiers welcomed the news there will be some fresh snow on Green Mountain near Nanaimo.

ROAD CLEAR

Victoria Sno-Birds' ski resort today reported: temperatures of eigat degrees; old snow depth of three feet with some light snow falling early today; all tows running, and the road to the parking lot is clear.

Gates will be open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

VANCOUVER—The freezing grip of winter will continue to chill the Lower Mainland for another two, possibly three, days, followed by snow.

The temperature dipped to 34 below in Prince George overnight, Vancouver recorded 15 above. Blue River in the Yellowhead pass area, reported 40 below with ice fog.

EDMONTON — Below-zero temperatures are expected to hold Alberta and Saskatchewan in their grip for at least three more days.

The bitter weather already has been blamed for four deaths in Western Canada.

Coldest overnight temperature on the Prairies was 45 below zero at Beverlodge in the northwest corner of Saskatchewan.

Southern Alberta temperatures dipped to about 30 below. The Edmonton and Peace River Block areas registered between 20 and 25 below.

RED MISTAKE was admitted unofficially when Bulgarian Communist Party recommended Traicho Kostov, party leader and deputy premier executed for treason in 1949, be made a posthumous "hero of socialist labor." He had been charged with plotting with U.S., Britain and Yugoslavia against Bulgarian regime, and Stalin himself accused him of a "nationalist" attitude towards the Soviet Union.

NEW HARBOR TUG TO ADD FIRE PUNCH

A new addition to Island Tug and Barge Ltd.'s fleet of towboats will also add to Victoria's waterfront fire protection.

The new tug, ordered this week from Star Shipyards, New Westminster, will be equipped with two monitors with hose connections and foam equipment. A 150-horsepower diesel motor will drive a pump giving the monitors capacity of 1,800 gallons a minute for a distance of 180 feet.

The tug, to be used for general harbor work, will be 42 feet long, 14 feet in beam. Contract is far about $100,000.

Island Tug has also ordered four new steel scows, 168 feet long and 46 feet in beam, at a total cost of $450,000. Contract was split evenly between Victoria Machinery Depot and Yarrows Ltd.

Prelate Wanted Aid Kept Secret

BOSTON (AP)—Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston, has disclosed that he raised $1,000,000 to help liberate Cuban invasion prisoners.

Cardinal Cushing released a statement Thursday identifying himself as solely responsible for the collection of the $1,000,000. He said he made the statement because of the many rumors concerning the "mysterious donor."

The prelate also said he wanted to clarify reports that the gift had come from sources "with which I have no identification."

"It is appropriate and fitting . . . for a Catholic prelate of the United States to have a part in the liberation of the 'Cuban fighters' who love their country and the faith of their fathers," he said.

Cuban Prime Minister Castro made a last-minute demand for $2,900,000 in cash before he would release 1,113 Bay of Pigs prisoners. He claimed the money was owed him for the release last April of 60 other prisoners, sick and wounded.

The money was in addition to the $53,000,000 worth of food and drugs used to pay for freeing the 1,113 prisoners. Gen. Lucius D. Clay, head of a committee which advised and assisted families of the prisoners, obtained a $1,900,000 loan and his own signature. Then he sent telegrams to industry leaders seeking contributions toward the loan.

A survey by the Associated Press of 25 companies indicated that contributions to this special fund ranged from $10,000 to $150,000.

It was announced at the time that the other $1,000,000 was contributed, at the request of Attorney-General Kennedy by an anonymous donor.

In Washington, a justice department spokesman said the cardinal pledged the money as the direct result of a telephone call from Kennedy asking for help.

"There was no figure mentioned in the phone call," the spokesman said. "The attorney-general just asked the cardinal what he could do to help."

"There was no figure mentioned in the phone call," the spokesman said. "The attorney-general just asked the cardinal what he could do to help."

Cardinal Cushing, he added, asked Kennedy to keep the $1,000,000 donation anonymous. Kennedy did so.

Manuel Lopez, delegate in Boston of the Cuban Revolutionary Council, said: "I am not surprised. He has helped and around Boston."

HISTORIC LETTERS written by Chief Justice Sir Matthew Begbie-Baillie, Judge Clement J. Cornwall and Henry Perring Pellew Crease in 1892 and 1893 were discovered recently in Victoria Courthouse. Registrar B. J. B. Morahan examines stylish handwriting. One of them records that Montague William Tyrwhitt-Drake, then a judge of the Supreme Court had administered the oath to Judge Cornwall. It was the same oath taken last Monday by his grandson, Judge Montague Tyrwhitt-Drake on his appointment to the County Court. (Times photo by Strickland.)

MONTE ROBERTS

Why is it when there is a warm spell, people greet each other by saying "is it hot enough for you," but when there is a you-know-what spell, people don't ask "is it cold enough for you?"

* * *

But you don't really call THIS a cold spell, do you?

If you think this is cold, you should have been with me the winter I spent in the wilds of Ontario.

(Lover girl, did you remember to close the door after you let the cat in?)

The winter I spent in the wilds of Ontario was even colder than the winter I spent in the wilds of Winnipeg.

Winter can get mighty wintry in the wilds of Winnipeg.

(Sweetie pie, are you SURE you closed the door after you let the cat in?)

But in Winnipeg, they expect winter, and make their igloos of solid brick, with central heating and built-in storm windows.

The winter I spent in the wilds of Ontario, though, I spent in a summer cottage.

Have you ever slept in a summer cottage when the thermometer said 38 below, and was probably afraid to reveal the real, low-down truth?

(Light of my life, you are POSITIVE you closed the back door after you let the cat in?)

I will admit, it was my own fault I never quite got around to winterizing this summer cottage before winter winged in on the back of a blizzard.

The blizzard was dandy, but after the snow came the cold, cold, COLD cold.

It was so cold, I devised my own pajamas.

(You DID close the back door after you let the cat in, didn't you, dear?)

My pajamas consisted of long johns, two pairs of knee-length wool socks, wool trousers over ski pants, a blanket coat, scarf, and hunting cap worn backward with the ear flaps down.

In this outfit, I crawled into a sleeping bag in front of a roaring fire in a huge open fireplace.

In the flickering light of the flames, I watched the frost forming inch-thick patterns on the ceiling above and the walls around.

Two feet from whichever side of me was facing the fire, the temperature was about 88 above.

Two feet from the other side, it was lower than Kennedy's opinion of Castro.

(Did you shoot the bolt on the back door after you closed it after letting the cat in?)

How I ever survived that winter in a summer cottage in the wilds of Ontario, I will never know.

And you call what is going on now in this, the Fairest City of Them All (Woman, I don't care WHAT you say about the back door, there's a draft coming from SOMEwhere) a cold spell?

People are getting mighty soft these days.

ASK The TIMES

Q. What is the origin of the expression "spic and span?"—R.D.

A. "Spic" is short for "spike" and "span" originally meant a chip. So a "spic and span" ship—as the term was originally used—meant a ship in which all the hardware and boards were brand new.

Q. Does the sun rotate on its axis?—D.F.

A. Yes, once in about every 26 days.

Anyone wishing a question answered is invited to send the problem along to the Times, addressed to "Ask the Times" Editor. Questions and answers will be published daily. All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

Motelmen Buck Civic Tax On Room Bills

'Inequitable Way To Raise Funds'

Suggestion that a three to five per cent civic tax be levied on hotel and motel room bills to finance tourist promotion activities met with a cold reception today from Victoria accommodation industry leaders.

The proposal was made in Vancouver by Ald. Marianne Linnell who has put it as a notice of motion before city council.

A. M. Titerle, president of the Victoria Auto Courts and Resorts Association, said the idea was discussed briefly at a directors' meeting Thursday night and was rejected on the grounds it was not an equitable means of raising funds.

"Unfortunately, a tax of this sort doesn't tap the major part of the tourist dollar," Mr. Titerle said." Only about 18 per cent of what the tourist spends here goes for accomodation."

Victoria Hotels' Association president Nick Renard protested: "I don't see why the accommodation industry should be ferretted out to pay for tourist promotion when all city businesses share in the benefits."

ALL MUST HELP

The hotel association, he said, was in favor of any "reasonable equation" by which all businesses benefitting from tourists would assist in directing funds to tourist advertising and promotion.

Mr. Renard said he was personally in favor of a small increase in the city business tax with the extra funds raised being earmarked for promotion. But any tax aimed solety at the hotel and motel industry, particularly one which would disrupt the present rate structure, would not be well received.

Mr. Titerle agreed with Mr. Renard that a rise in the business tax would be the fairest way of raising extra funds.

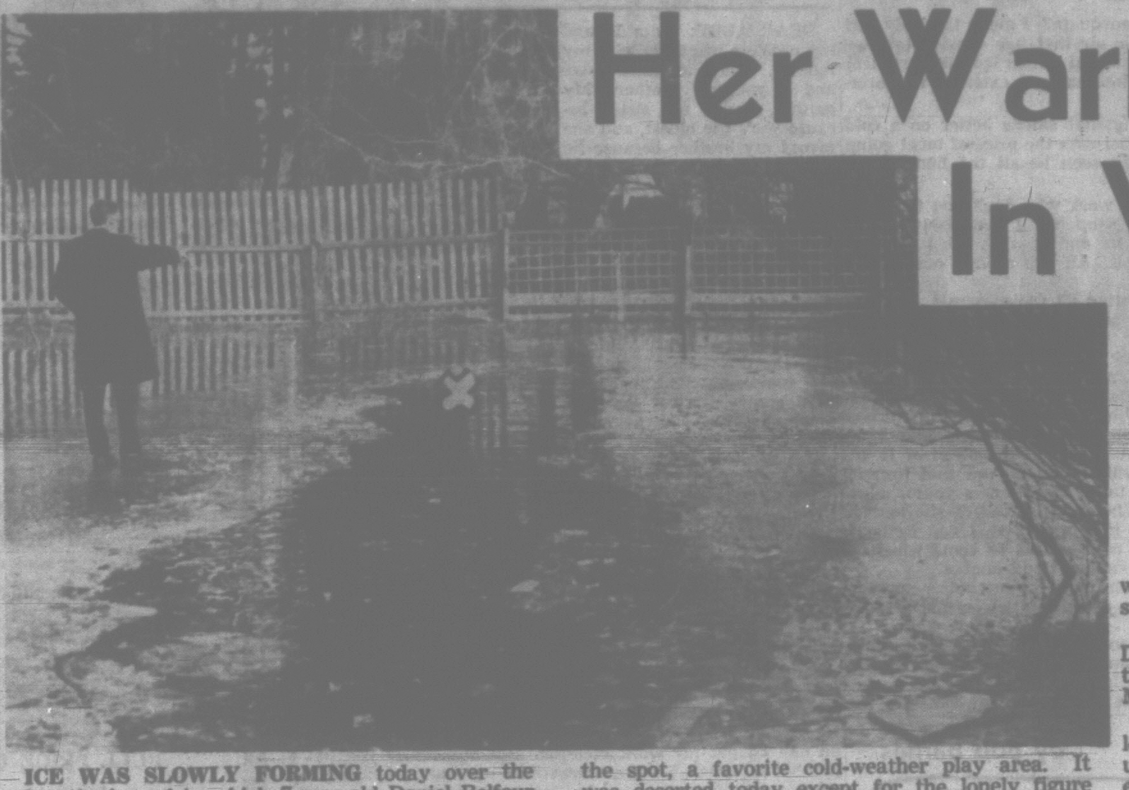
$3 PER UNIT

"In the meantime," he said, "members of our organization are agreed in principle to a levy of $3 a unit this year which will be contributed to support the Victoria Publicity Bureau, and we will go ahead with this plan."

Another ACCRA member, Herbert Plasterer, raised another objection to the civic tax idea when he pointed out that only about one-third of Greater Victoria's motels were located in the city.

But Ald. Arthur Dowell, chairman of city finance committee, said some way of raising adequate funds for tourist promotion must be found and the Vancouver proposal could be worth investigating.

Her Warning In Vain



ICE WAS SLOWLY FORMING today over the Langford pond in which 7-year-old Daniel Belfour drowned Thursday afternoon. The ice shows the path taken by firemen who retrieved his body. Residents have forbidden their children to go near the spot, a favorite cold-weather play area. It was deserted today except for the lonely figure pointing to the place where the ice gave way under the weight of the little boy. (Times photo by Irving Strickland.)

Little Boy Drowns

By IAIN HUNTER

"I warned them. I warned them at noon to stay off the ice."

But seven-year-old Danny Belfour didn't heed the warning of his teacher Miss E. R. King.

Four hours later his lifeless body was pulled from under the ice which covered a pond on Millstream Road.

The fatal accident came in the midst of the first cold spell of the season, and in spite of police warnings to youngsters to stay off thin ice in Greater Victoria.

Danny had left Langford Elementary School where he was a Grade 2 pupil at about 3 p.m.

He had gone home, to 2774 Winster, where he lived alone with his father, Leslie Belfour, an employee of B.C. Forest Products.

MOTHER DEAD

His mother died in November, 1961.

Thursday, Mr. Belfour had to work night shift, and arrangements had been made for Danny to spend the night with his sister, Mrs. Anna Garcia, on Millstream Road.

Mr. Belfour left the house at about 3:30 p.m., when Danny started to make his way to his sister's house.

He never got there.

It is not known what caused him to go out on to the ice, but it is believed he may have been attracted by a number of youngsters skating around the edges of the pond.

ICE GAVE WAY

As he reached approximately the middle of the pond the ice gave way underneath him and he plunged into the icy water.

People living in the area estimated the pond, swollen by recent rains, is about six feet deep at this point.

Danny yelled to the skating children for help as he fell through, but they were unable to reach him on the cracking and splitting ice. Some ran for help.

DISAPPEARED

Langford volunteer fire department were at the scene minutes after they were called, but Danny had disappeared, after a futile struggle before they reached the hole in the ice.

The boy had been wearing gumboots.

An extension ladder was placed out to the hole in the ice, and firemen Frank Crowther and Douglas Smith plunged over the edge of the hole, up to their waists.

FOUND BODY

Vernon Edwards, 731 Station Road, stripped off coat and boots and dove down to locate Danny's body.

He had to dive twice before he found him.

Attempts were made to revive the boy by mouth-to-mouth respiration and a resuscitator. When this failed, Dr. A. B. Allen was called from the doctors' clinic in Colwood.

"It was all rather futile," Dr. Allen told the Times. "His heart had stopped by the time I got there, but I had to do something."

The doctor injected adrenaline into Danny's heart and applied external heart massage. There was no response.

Miss King, principal of Langford Elementary, said Danny had come to the school only last September, when he and his father had moved from Beechwood Ave. in Victoria.

Previously the boy had attended Strawberry Vale School.

LONESOME

"He seemed a lonesome little youngster, perhaps because there was no one his age at home," Miss King said. "But he was a genuine child and very likeable."

She said she had warned pupils during noon hour, while they were playing in the school grounds, to stay off the ice. There is a similar, though smaller, pond on school property.

Funeral service for the dead boy will be held at 10:30 a.m. Monday in Sands Chapel of Heather. Burial will be in Hatley Memorial Park.

School Boycott In Third Day

Nothing Less Than Underpass

The Mount Benson School boycott was in its third day today—the day six-year-old highway victim Alan Sheepwash was to be buried.

Only 38 of the 217 pupils were at the school near Nanaimo today, but the provincial education department plans no action against parents for truancy.

Most of the students have been kept at home since Alan was killed by a truck Tuesday.

A delegation of parents will meet Highways Minister P. A. Gaglardi here Monday morning.

They say they will settle for nothing less than an underpass at the accident scene—a crosswalk on the Trans-Canada Highway three miles north of Nanaimo at the intersection of Jingle Pot Road.

If they fail with Mr. Gaglardi, they are prepared to go to Premier Bennett.

Education department officials believe the whole matter will be cleared up Monday, and that's why they aren't worried about truancy.

But officials of the highways department are less confident.

An underpass would be extremely costly, they say.

It would mean rebuilding about half a mile of highway because of the intersection and also "jacking" it up about seven feet.

A rough estimate of the cost: $30,000.

An overpass would be more reasonable in cost—between $12,000 and $15,000 for an aluminum one with steps.

However this would mean no bicycles (Alan was riding one when killed). To handle bikes the overpass would have to be an elaborate and costly ramp type.

Highways officials said there are few spots in B.C. with either over or underpasses.

Newest overpass (the aluminum type) is near the Oak Street Bridge in Vancouver where 15,000 cars a day roar along a four-lane highway.

Official traffic counts have been made at the Mount Benson school site and indicated insufficient traffic to warrant an over pass.

The parents themselves Thursday counted 2,500 cars in nine hours on the two-lane highway.

Education Minister Leslie Peterson Thursday asked his deputy, Dr. J. F. K. English, to make an inquiry into possibility of truancy action during the school boycott.

Today, Dr. English said this did not seem "very important."

"There will not be any issue made in this, under the circumstances, unless the children are away from school a very long time," he said.

He said he believed they would all be back at school early next week.

$5,000 Loss as Fire Destroys Calves, Hay

Twenty-five calves were burned to death and 35 tons of hay went up in smoke in a barn fire Thursday on remote Stewart Road, off Thetis Lake Road.

The 70-year-old barn belonging to Edward Harvey, 2696 Sooke Road, was destroyed. It was partly insured.

But the fire was a stunning loss to Duncan Cameron of RR6, Thetis Lake. He had been running the cattle on Mr. Harvey's land.

He did not have either the cattle or the hay insured. The calves were almost ready to butcher for veal.

An estimated total loss could be as high as $5,000.

Langford volunteer fire brigade tried to get a 2,000-gallon tanker to the scene but had to turn back. Firemen feared the bridges would not carry the weight of the vehicle.

View Royal volunteer fire brigade managed to get a 500-gallon tanker to the fire along a rough road. Firemen were unable to save the barn but kept the blaze from spreading to other buildings.

The animals were dead even before the fire alarm was given. One of the first men on the scene, Harold Bukin of Munn Road, found the cattle dead when he arrived.

The fire was spotted about 3:30 in the afternoon, shortly after a truck delivered sawdust to the property.

Mrs. Bukin, a daughter of Mr. Cameron, called the firemen. The property was outside fire protection boundaries.

Guilty Plea On 3 Charges

David D. Frankham, 3981 Borden, pleaded guilty in Saanich and Central Saanich courts Thursday to three charges of breaking and entering.

In Central Saanich court he appeared on a charge of breaking into Butler Bros. Supply Ltd., Keating Cross Road, last Thursday, when a number of explosives and blasting caps were stolen.

In Saanich court he was charged with breaking at Lo-Hi Market, 4142 Wilkinson, Dec. 22, and at Safeway Stores Ltd. in the Town and Country Shopping Plaza Sunday.

A safe containing $600 was stolen from the Wilkinson Road premises. Nothing was taken from the Safeway store although an attempt had been made to get into the safe.

SECOND CHARGED

Another youth is charged along with Frankham with all three break-ins.

Larry A. Preston, 33 Regina, elected trial by judge and jury and reserved his plea.

Both youths were remanded to next Thursday, Frankham for probation report and sentence, and Preston for preliminary hearing.

Preston was allowed bail of $2,000 on both Saanich charges.

Funeral Rites on Saturday For Pioneer's Descendant

Funeral services will be held in Hayward's chapel Saturday at 3:30 p.m. for Mrs. Katherine Elma Castle, descendant of a pioneer Victoria family, who died in St. Joseph's Hospital Thursday.

Interment will follow at St. Stephen's Church, Mount Newton, with which the family was associated for many years. The minister, Rev. O. L. Foster, will officiate.

Mrs. Castle lived at 582 St. Charles, Oak Bay, and was the widow of the late Raymond F. Castle. He built the Oak Bay Theatre block in 1939 and operated the theatre for several years.

Her father was Dr. Roderick Fraser, one of Victoria's early medical doctors, who fought a serious epidemic of smallpox in the city in 1892.

Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. William Thomson, were pioneer residents of Victoria. They came here from Scotland and lived for many years at Bannockburn, Mount Newton Crossroad.

Mrs. Castle is survived by two daughters, Miss Hilary Castle of Victoria, and Mrs. W. S. Thackray of Vancouver; her brother, Dr. W. Allan Fraser of Victoria, and two grandchildren, Andrew and Christopher, in Vancouver.

Youth Admits Entry, Theft At City House

An 18-year-old youth pleaded guilty in city police court today to breaking and entering and theft Wednesday night from a Coventry Street address.

Police arrested Philip Holland, 1920 Bowker, and a juvenile after a pair of gloves, two butcher knives, a flashlight, and about $9 in U.S. currency was stolen from the house of James Adam, 1331 Coventry.

The basement door had been forced open.

Holland was remanded to Jan. 18 for probation report and sentence.

Sub Hunt 'Games' Planned Off Island

A joint United States-Canadian anti-submarine exercise, involving surface and air sub-fighters, will be announced shortly by the U.S. and Canadian navies.

Announcement awaits final clearance by the U.S.

The exercise, first major "sub hunt" of 1963, will take place during the last week of January and the first two days of February.

It is expected Esquimalt-based navy ships will be joined by RCAF maritime patrol aircraft from Comox and U.S. Navy planes from Whidbey Island, and that the RCN's fleet maintenance ship HMCS Cape Breton will also take part.

Area of the simulated submarine attack on the Pacific Northwest will be well out to sea, off the West Coast of Vancouver Island and the approaches to Juan de Fuca Strait.

CITY HOPEFUL ON SURPLUS

City Hall is hoping for a hefty surplus from its 1962 budget.

Mayor R. B. Wilson Thursday asked if there would be any surplus and how much it might be, during a committee meeting.

Comptroller-treasurer James Bramley said the final figure was not known yet but he guessed it would be about the same "if not more" than last year, when the carry-over totalled about $160,000.

The Road Ahead

New Exchange Crisis Feared

A Special Times Series

By BRUCE HUTCHISON
Editor of The Times

Among the Western industrial nations none is so penetrated by foreign capital as Canada.

Foreigners own most of our manufacturing industry.

They control a large part of such basic resources as oil, timber and minerals.

They intend, quite legally and with the vendors' full consent, to buy up more of the Canadian people's estate.

Where will this process end? At the rate of the last dozen years it could end either in a foreign-owned economic system, an appendage of the United States, or even in a general demand for the nationalization of major Canadian industries, as has happened in many other underdeveloped countries. If economic sovereignty is lost political sovereignty will follow.

These things need not happen if Canadians will take a hard, unprejudiced look at foreign investment, as they have not done yet, and base their national policies on facts instead of passions.

The first fact revealed by such a look is that without huge foreign investment Canada would still be the poor, primitive country of our grandfathers' time. From the days of the French fur traders through the days of the railway builders and the modern industrial revolution, Canada's growth has been nourished mainly by outside capital because Canadians lacked enough of their own.

The second fact is that while foreign borrowings enabled Canada to grow at a rate impossible without them, much of the money thus secured was used for the wrong or, at any rate, the least economic purposes. We cannot afford that luxury any longer.

Pays for Imports

To take a simple illustration, a Canadian mine created by American capital enriches this nation, employs its people and, by exporting its products, pays for essential imports. On the other hand, money borrowed from foreigners by a provincial or municipal government to build, say, a school may be money well spent from a social point of view. From an economic point of view it creates no means of repaying the loan, no new saleable goods, no financial nourishment for Canadian business and employment.

Or if we borrow foreign money to buy consumer goods, as we have done on a large scale, then of course we incur a long-term liability without any long-term asset of any kind, economic or social. We are merely living on debt.

The first step in any national policy aimed at economic growth and the reduction of our crushing trade deficit is thus perfectly clear. We must stop borrowing foreign money for the wrong purposes.

Having stopped borrowing it

Canada Plans 4 Satellites For '64-'68

OTTAWA (CP) — A Canadian space program including the launching of four more earth satellites is planned for 1964-68, it was learned Friday.

The program still requires final approval of the United States government, which would be responsible for launching of the satellites as in the case of the Canadian Alouette satellite put into orbit Sept. 28.

The satellite program, estimated to cost Canada some $8,000,000 in the four-year period, has been approved by the Canadian government.

Scientific discussions with the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration are expected to begin before the end of this month.

The satellites will be research vehicles to investigate phenomena in space.

The first satellite, to be launched in late 1964 or early 1965, will be the spare vehicle not required in last fall's successful launching.

Riding on tail of 45-foot sea monster

THREE-HOUR FROLIC — IT WAS AWESOME

Skindivers Have 'Whale' of a Time

LA JOLLA, Calif. — Four San Diego, Calif., amateur photographers had a whale of a time Thursday—with a whale.

The four frolicked in the ocean for three hours with their new-found friend, photographing it close up, riding on its back and even showering under its spout.

"It was a one-in-a-million experience that every photographer dreams about," said Charles Nicklin, Jr., 35, operator of a local diving shop.

He said the 45-foot finback whale was crippled and exhausted because it had been entangled in a nylon line which they were able to release.

Nicklin said he, Alving Santmyer, 35, a diving shop operator; William DeCourt, 24, a design draftsman, and Frank Morejohn, 32, an architectural illustrator, first sighted a whale spout about 1½ miles offshore.

"We thought at first it was sleeping because it lay so still on the surface," Nicklin said. "When we got up close we were so excited we kept dropping film all over the boat.

"As it made no indication of taking off, we suited up and took underwater pictures of it. The line had cut into the whale's hide and he was apparently so exhausted from struggling, he couldn't submerge. He just wallowed there, rocking back and forth."

"He was really big," DeCourt volunteered.

"After shooting pictures for awhile," Nicklin continued, "we took turns riding on its back, clowning around and posing."

"I got a shower sitting near the blowhole when it spouted," DeCourt said

"It was sort of awesome," Nicklin said, "when we thought of the size of the whale and what he might do to us. We were somewhat afraid to take the line off his tail, because we thought he might do something violent. Finally I dove down and removed the line that had crippled him.

"He waited a bit, gave a spout, waved his tail and off he swam."

"We felt a kinship for him," DeCourt said. "He didn't say thank you, but we know he appreciated what we did for him."

Three Safe Places Ready for Skaters

There are only three "guaranteed safe" outdoor skating spots in Victoria and adjoining municipalities:

The model yacht pond on Dallas Road, which has two inches of solid ice on the concrete bottom;

The Esquimalt lacrosse box, Fraser and Lyall streets, which was flooded to two-inch depth and is frozen solid.

A small pond on the west side of Topaz Park, near the Mayfair Plaza site.

Police of all areas were emphatic in warning off would-be skaters from waters deeper than a very few inches.

Saanich reports no safe areas in deeper waters, and police are keeping a sharp eye on such waters as Swan Lake. They are prepared to keep skaters off.

Goodacre Lake in Beacon Hill Park is ruled out for skaters—portions of the water are still open.

Colwood RCMP were particularly emphatic, in view of the tragedy Thursday (see Page 13.)

"There isn't a safe skating area anywhere in this district," a spokesman said.

Chamber Asks Cut in Taxes

OTTAWA (CP) — Substantial cuts in income taxes and another federal budget deficit next fiscal year were advocated today by the executive council of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

In a prebudget brief presented to Finance Minister Nowlan and Revenue Minister Fleming, the council said a deficit for the fiscal year starting April 1 is "appropriate for the current economic situation."

But it should be lower than the $570,000,000 deficit forecast for the current year.

The proposal ran counter to the policy declaration at the Canadian Chamber's annual meeting last September which called for "immediate steps" to balance the budget after six consecutive years of deficits.

Today's brief said there should be a "substantial reduction" in both corporate and personal income taxes to stimulate growth of production and employment.

REDUCE SPENDING

Government spending should be reduced, with implementation of money-saving recommendations of the Glassco royal commission on government operations "to the maximum practicable extent . . . as rapidly as possible."

The brief added that the government should finance the deficit by borrowing in the capital market "without relying on an increase in the money supply from central bank operations."

The brief, presented by a delegation headed by George P. Keeping of Montreal, chairman of the chamber's executive council, echoed the tax-cut request made Wednesday by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

The Chamber of Commerce said a "controlled" and reduced deficit, with tax cuts partly offset by reduced expenditures, "would enhance rather than impair confidence."

On government spending, it said costs of social welfare programs have reached "the fiscally feasible limits." But there was room for added outlays for social capital — new schools and other community services.

The brief welcomed the appointment of the royal commission on taxation, and suggested a close study of the merits of shifting the emphasis from income taxes to sales taxes as a means of encouraging industrial expansion.

UN Troops Converge On Kolwezi

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters)—United Nations troops today drove to within 70 miles of the key Katangan mining town of Kolwezi after central Congolese Premier Cyrille Adoula warned President Moise Tshombe of Katanga he personally would be held responsible for any sabotage of Kolwezi.

In a radio broadcast Thursday night, Adoula said if the vital mining installations of Kolwezi were destroyed or damaged "the government will hold Mr. Tshombe responsible and will take the most severe measures in conformity with Congolese law."

Tshombe returned to Elisabethville, his Katangan capital, Thursday night after leading a bloodless UN advance to Mokambo, a communications town on the Rhodesian border 110 miles from Elisabethville.

A UN spokesman said a UN Indian platoon had reached Kakanda on the Dikuwe River 45 miles west of Jadotville and was looking for a place to ford the river.

More Indian troops reached the mining railhead at Shangolowe, west of Jadotville, without meeting any Katangan opposition.

Meanwhile, Tshombe was reported bitterly at odds with some of his followers over future co-operation with the UN.

Sources close to Tshombe said the most serious rift was with Interior Minister Godefroid Munongo, the most violently anti-UN member of the Katanga cabinet.

Tshombe went to the border town of Mokambo Thursday in a bid to talk his followers into returning here to get the Katangese government functioning again now that the UN has used force to reintegrate the Congo.

But he failed to convince Munongo, who crossed into northern Rhodesia in a huff.

Chances Of Snow Little

Cold, but no colder, and possibly about five degrees warmer, is today's forecast for Victoria's current taste of winter.

The mercury dropped Thursday night to an official 16.9 mark at the Gonzales weather office, 15 in some parts of the city.

There is little prospect of snow in the near future, although snow is falling at Prince Rupert and the northwest coast of Vancouver Island.

"We even had a few flakes here this morning," weatherman Bill Mackie said, "although you could walk between them.

"There's a chance we might have a few flurries here."

20 TONIGHT

Mr. Mackie said there was evidence Thursday of some warmer air beginning to move into the far north from storm areas in the Pacific, bringing a slow moderating trend to this area.

Moderating temperatures will be accompanied by increased cloudiness.

Low tonight is forecast at 20, and the mercury should move above freezing Saturday. Winds will be light, mainly from the east.

Skiers welcomed the news there will be some fresh snow on Green Mountain near Nanaimo.

ROAD CLEAR

Victoria Sno-Birds' ski resort today reported: temperatures of eight degrees; old snow depth of three feet with some light snow falling early today; all tows running, and the road to the parking lot is clear.

Gates will be open from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturday and Sunday.

VANCOUVER—The freezing grip of winter will continue to chill the Lower Mainland for another two, possibly three, days, followed by snow.

The temperature dipped to 34 below in Prince George overnight. Vancouver recorded 15 above. Blue River in the Yellowhead pass area, reported 40 below with ice fog.

EDMONTON — Below-zero temperatures are expected to hold Alberta and Saskatchewan in their grip for at least three more days.

The bitter weather already has been blamed for four deaths in Western Canada.

Coldest overnight temperature on the Prairies was 45 below zero at Beverlodge in the northwest corner of Saskatchewan.

Southern Alberta temperatures dipped to about 30 below. The Edmonton and Peace River Block areas registered between 20 and 25 below.

The weather office predicted a "slight moderating trend" for Saturday but said most Prairie temperatures would not reach zero. Light snow was expected in the Peace River area Saturday.

Pearson Blast Expected On Nuclear Arms Issue

By ALEX YOUNG
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Liberal Leader Lester Pearson is expected to renew his criticism Saturday of the government's handling of the nuclear weapons issue.

But whether he will elaborate on or bring to a firmer position his own party's policy on the question is up to now uncertain.

Liberal party spokesmen said their leader would have some important things to say about defence policy when he makes a speech Saturday at a luncheon meeting in Toronto of the York Scarboro federal Liberal nominating convention.

In his criticism of the Diefenbaker government in the past Mr. Pearson has attacked the government for seeming to have committed its new CF-104 squadrons in Europe to tactical nuclear arms, then failing to live up to the commitment.

Liberal policy has been against nuclear weapons for Canadian forces at home, but in favor of them for our forces under NATO command in Europe on the condition

New Russ Overture On Test Ban Pact

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union are privately exploring new approaches to a nuclear test ban agreement, the Washington Post says.

A new Soviet overture toward breaking the deadlock on international inspection of a test ban is understood to have been made to the United States, The Post says and adds:

"The nature and details of this move have been kept secret, and it is believed to be still in an embryonic stage. Whether it will in fact produce something tangible or end up as another false start is still unknown."

Soviet deputy foreign minister Vasily V. Kuznetsov now is in Washington talking with U.S. officials. One of the subjects he discussed with President Kennedy Wednesday was disarmament.

However, U.S. spokesmen have made a point of specifying that Kuznetsov's talks here have been "casual" and that there had been "no systematic discussion of any points."

SOLUTION MONDAY

CUT BARRIERS, JAPAN ASKS CANADIANS

TOKYO (UPI)—Japan called on Canada today to reduce trade barriers as representatives of both nations exchanged heated debate at the opening meeting of an oft-delayed ministerial conference.

Japanese Finance Minister Kakuei Tanaka urged the Canadians to release Japan from its voluntary export quotas and to reduce trade barriers, such as import surcharges, that Canada has erected to protect its home industries.

Canadian Minister of Justice Donald M. Fleming, who led his country's delegation, said that his government would eliminate the temporary surcharges as soon as they are no longer necessary.

U.S. Urges A-Support

PARIS (UPI) — The United States called on its North Atlantic Treaty allies today to support its plans for a multination nuclear force inside the alliance and to boost conventional armed strength in Europe.

Power Cuts Hit Britons

LONDON (Reuters)—Leaders of five unions representing some 128,000 British electrical workers today failed to agree on what action to take if their wage demands are not met.

Shop stewards in several power stations will meet tonight to consider an extension of their wildcat go-slow campaign. The campaign today resulted in power reductions throughout all of southeast England, which is having its coldest winter in many years.
